Harry L. Hopkins, co-ordinator of American lease-lend aid, has again been sent to Britain to make a new survey of British war needs it was announced in Washington today. Hopkins made a previous survey in Britain last winter.

Hopkins Goes To Britain To Survey Needs

By THOMAS F. REYNOLDS

WASHINGTON, July 16—(BUP)—It was learned today that President Roosevelt has sent Harry L. Hopkins, lend-lease co-ordinator, to London for a new survey of British needs.

Hopkins left on his second trip to Britain within a year while the administration was preparing a request to congress for more lend-lease funds.

Mr. Roosevelt at his press conference yesterday, declined to reveal the amount involved. It has been indicated, however, that it would be at least as large as the $7,000,000,000 appropriated in the first lend-lease bill.

MAY TALK RUSS AID

The White House declined to discuss Hopkins' departure. Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early said: "Ship movements are confidential."

It is understood that Hopkins left last week-end and may already be in London. Despite Early's reference to ships it may be that Hop-

Japanese Cabinet Resigns Suddenly

TOKYO, July 16.—(AP)—The cabinet of Prince Fumimaro Konoye, which put Japan in the Axis line-up and bound her in a neutrality accord with Soviet Russia, resigned suddenly today.

Its resignation, a palace announcement said, was to strengthen the government's policies in facing the situation at home and the confused problems abroad.

Prince Konoye presented his government's resignation en bloc to the Emperor at his summer palace at Hayama, southwest of Tokyo, and, as usual in such circumstances, received an imperial command to remain in office until another government is organized.

The Emperor and Empress arranged to return promptly to Tokyo.

MATSUOKA IS ILL

Foreign minister Yosuke Matsuoka, who was influential in involving Japan in the two major pacts which now are keystones of her policy—the Axis alignment and Soviet neutrality was among those who went out.

Still ill in bed, Matsuoka was not present at an emergency meeting of the resigned ministers but submitted his resignation to Konoye earlier.

The resignation came exactly a year after Prince Konoye was entrusted with formation of the government. The Konoye cabinet was formally inducted July 18, 1940.

Most widely known of the Konoye ministers was Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka, considered largely responsible for Japan's adherence to the Rome-Berlin alliance and who personally negotiated a Japanese-Russian neutrality accord at Moscow last April 13.

Today's War Moves

By British United Press

THE present, or second phase of the Russian-German struggle is bringing the world war very close to a climax. Too close attention to the day by day progress of the German armies and of conflicting claims of advances and Russian counter-attacks tends to obscure the broader picture. The significance of present developments is that Germany now seems definitely engaged in a major war on two fronts.

When Hitler and the high command disregarded Bismarck's tenets and embarked on the Russian adventure while Britain remained as a powerful foe in the west, it is safe to assume that they did not actually count on having a two-front war.

The high command probably reasoned that Russia would be a push-over for a German blitzkrieg attack, just as the Balkans had been. They counted on putting Russia definitely out of action within about six weeks. Actually, with the added resources gained, they would

Colors Dipped At Ceremony At Fair

Colorful ceremony at the end of the army day, when "Retreat" was sounded at sundown at the encampment at the Exhibition grounds, was attended Tuesday by Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen. In the upper picture His Honor is standing beneath the lowering Union Jack. Also shown are P. W. Abbott, K.C., managing director of the fair, conversing with Nursing Sister Margaret Thompson, while behind her is Maj. J. H. Gainor, M.C., district recruiting officer. Below, buglers of the 2nd Bn., Edmonton Fusiliers, (R)CA, are sounding the "Retreat". (See story Page 9.)

Farmers Flock To Fair To Celebrate Their Own Day

Farmers by the thousand flocked to the Edmonton Exhibition Association's summer fair to celebrate on their traditional day—Tuesday—and hung up an attendance record which P. W. Abbott K.C., managing-director of the association, said compared more than favorably with the corresponding day last year.

From noon to midnight "Frolic-Land" did a land office business, and after the grandstand performance the thrilling rides and sideshows were taxed to capacity. At many of the more thrilling of the rides long lines of patrons waited their turn to get on the Spitfire, the Rocket and other nerve testing amusement devices.

A capacity audience greeted the platform attraction "Music on Wings" and gave the artists a wonderful reception as they went

October 13 To Be Thanksgiving Day

OTTAWA, July 16.—(CP)—Canada this year will observe Thanksgiving Day on Oct. 13, the second Monday in October. This announcement was made today by Hon. P. F. Casgrain, secretary of state, who said a proclamation naming Oct. 13 as a day of "general thanksgiving" will be issued shortly.

Second Nazi Offensive Is Seen Failing

MOSCOW, July 16.—(AP)—The general atmosphere in Russian quarters tonight appeared to be one of growing confidence as the Germans' second offensive, now in its fifth day, seemed to be failing to gain ground as fast as the first thrust through the Soviet's buffer provinces.

The weight of the battle shifted to the northern and central sectors of the long Baltic-to-Black Sea front and a Russian counter-offensive was reported still continuing west of the Dnieper river.

Advices from the front said German forces had been shoved back even farther than the 19 miles already claimed.

LONDON, July 16—(CP)—Authoritative British quarters said today that the Germans, in the 3½ weeks of fighting in Soviet Russia, have "achieved nothing which cannot be quickly recovered by the Russians" and "accomplished nothing that can be reckoned as final or as substantial advantage."

These quarters said there was stiff fighting all along the front and that German claims of the past week-end "by now have been seriously modified."

Elsewhere, the Soviet communique said Red army forces were holding doggedly after furious overnight battles to stem the Nazi drives toward Leningrad and

Soviet Able To Supply Army If Moscow Taken

LONDON, July 16—(CP)—Russian ambassador Ivan Maisky said today that even if Moscow should fall to the advancing Germans, the Soviet Union's widely dispersed industries would be able to keep the Red army in the field "fully supplied."

"For years we planned dispersal of heavy and light industries, and to our effort to guard against air attack," Maisky explained.

"Should Moscow fall, a catastrophe which I do not believe will occur, we will fight on supplied by these factories and growing industries hidden in the Urals."

LONG WAY TO PLANTS

Although the Leningrad industrial region is threatened by German forces striking through Narva and Pskov, the ambassador declared that area was not vital to Soviet war production.

The British have a song, 'It's a long way to Tipperary,' and I will be singing it when I reach Moscow,' Maisky said. He added that he will be singing it when he reaches Moscow.

British Ready In East

LONDON, July 16.—(CP)—Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, commander-in-chief of British forces in the Far East, was quoted by Reuters news agency in a Singapore dispatch today as declaring, "We are fully prepared, come what may," when asked to comment on rumors of an impending resumption of Japan's southward expansion.

"We are confident that whatever the British forces in the Far East may be called on to perform we will not be found wanting," Sir Robert said in an interview.

Huns Bring Back Planes To West

LONDON, July 16.—(CP)—An authoritative source declared today the Germans were withdrawing some of their fighter planes from the Russian front to bolster their western defences.

Reports from other sources that Nazi fighter planes were being pulled back from the east are confirmed, he said, by the increased fighter opposition being encountered by British night bombers of Germany.

One Nazi fighter plane was shot down over Germany last night when, despite bad weather, Royal Air Force bombers swept over again to attack industrial targets at Duisburg and elsewhere in the Ruhr.

The air ministry said a coastal command bomber attacked an Axis supply ship of about 3,500 tons this morning off the French northwest coast and scored a hit on the stern with a salvo of bombs.

Fighter planes on offensive patrol attacked a Nazi airdrome in occupied France with bombs and machine guns. In the night operations three bombers were lost.

NAZI RAIDS LIGHT

(Nazi sources in Berlin said British planes dropped explosives and incendiaries at several places in western Germany and, as usual, claimed damage was "light").

Meanwhile, the British Isles continued to enjoy its respite from night raiders. A small number of Nazi planes operated over the coastal areas and one dropped bombs on a southeast coast point. Some damage and a small number of casualties were caused in this "nuisance raid."

(The Nazis claimed the "port" of Margate was attacked.)

Morale Of Russ Air Force High

LONDON, July 16.—(CP)—An informed source said tonight that the British mission in Moscow had reported the morale of the Russian Air Force high and its fliers holding their own in the vast struggle with the German air arm.

Soviet pilots have shown no reluctance to tackle the best the Nazis can send at them, according to this information, and have attacked fiercely and successfully.

A high British source described the Russian air arm today as a powerful fighting force, very much intact, and said Soviet fighter planes had done well.

One Russian request through the British mission, this source said, has been for more fighter planes.

Nazis Plan New 'Peace Offensive'

By LOUIS HUNTER

LONDON, July 16.—(CP)—The Nazis were reported Tuesday night to be preparing a new "peace offensive" involving "generous" terms.

The Press Association, feeling that Foreign Minister Ribbentrop was "conferring with Nazi ambassadors to several western European countries who have been summoned to Berlin," said its diplomatic talks arose from Hitler's failure to obtain support elsewhere for his "crusade against communism."

"The Nazi ambassadors, may, therefore, be discussing the next political-propaganda move which, judging from the loud whispering campaign, is intended to take the form of a 'peace drive' in the west," the Press Association said.

TRY OTHER TACTICS

"There is some indication that Hitler, having failed entirely to influence American or other neutral opinion by his 'holy crusade' propaganda, will now try other tactics and say that, while Germany will devote all her strength to defeat

British Aircraft Pour Tons Bombs On German Plants

LONDON, July 16.—(BUP)—The Royal Air Force has issued a round-up of its activities from June 16 to July 10. During that time British bombers have poured no less than two-thousand tons of bombs on German industrial plants in the Ruhr district.

In the same 25 days, more than one thousand tons of high explosive bombs have been rained on the city of Cologne. Bremen also suffered heavily from the new R.A.F. offensive with at least 500 tons of bombs being dropped on the Nazi port.

FLIGHT FROM PARIS—

"Epic Of Cruelty" Says Casey

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

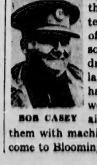

MOST ASTOUNDING MASS MIGRATION IN HISTORY

Here is the third of Robert J. Casey's notable series on his experiences through 22 months of the current World War II, perhaps the longest period of uninterrupted service known to any contemporary North American correspondent. He had linked arms with death through the low countries, through France, England, the Middle East—and in the stygian night of the North Atlantic.—EDITOR.

"——So the people of Chicago took sudden fright and in a blind panic ran out onto the highways. They left their dinners on tables or still cooking on their kitchen stoves. They left the water running in their baths, their doors open, their lights turned on. In some of their living rooms the phonographs went on playing or the untended radio sets continued to blat a warning of wrath to come. They fled as they were, some of them in dinner jackets, some half-dressed. The sick got up from their beds, the lame staggered out on their crutches. If they had money they took it. If they had none they went anyway . . . Along about Joliet some airplanes came along and killed hundreds of them with machine guns and bombs. By the time they had come to Bloomington thousands of them were collapsing from fatigue, illness and hunger . . . They were going to St. Louis, they said, . . . because they would be safe in St. Louis."

ROBERT J. CASEY

Whatever other factors have tended to make the evacuation of Paris the war's most indelible memory, the absolute impossibility of it is not the least.

While you moved in the big retreat, wet and hungry and miserable as everyone else was, you felt that it couldn't be happening at all. It was fantastic that anyone born in South

And those who took part in it will never be done talking about it, because nothing remotely like it is ever going to happen to them again.

Epic Of Suffering

It's a year now since the great flight ended—a year that seemed longer than a couple of lifetimes. What happened on the clogged roads of France as the Germans came might be

CANADIAN ARMORED DIVISION TRAINING

Will Provide Punch To Shock Hitler's Nazi Legions

Tanks Now Being Produced In Canada Will Probably Be Used By Canuck Units

OTTAWA, July 16.—(CP)—Thirteen thousand young Canadians and a fast-moving mass of armored equipment will provide a punch to shock Hitler's legions when the 5th (Armored) Canadian Division goes into action, national defence officials said today.

Training of the modernized force, which has in its organization men from all parts of the Dominion, is proceeding at Camp Borden, Ont., under command of Maj.-Gen. W. W. Sanderson, D.S.O. In the measure of equipment, it will be the most powerful fighting unit ever organized in Canada.

"The armored division often is confused with the army tank brigade, units of which are already in the United Kingdom," officials said. "The tank brigade is an armored formation which works with the infantry and is an adjunct or supplement to these forces. The armored division is a self-contained organization prepared to give battle by itself if necessary."

ABOUT 40 UNITS

The armored division consists of about 40 units, the main striking strength being contained in armored regiments equipped with powerful cruiser tanks.

Officials said that tanks now being produced in Canada and of the latest pattern would probably be used by the armored division, but they avoided any statement when Defence Minister Ralston that when the division went overseas it would be provided with the most modern equipment under arrangements between Canada and the United Kingdom.

TRAINING CRAFTSMEN

Craftsmen with a wide variety of skills are being trained in the armored division, officials said. Wireless experts, anti-aircraft and instrument mechanics, blacksmiths, tinsmiths, coppersmiths, machinists, electricians, plumbers, sheet metal workers, engine artificers, gunfitters-and armorers are all part of the organization.

If necessary, the division will maintain contact with its various units by wireless, so that mobility will be given efficiency by speed of transmission of messages.

Cruiser tanks will provide the bulk of the striking power but they will be buttressed by other vehicles such as two battalions of motorized infantry which will facilitate any break-through.

The composition of the division was traced by Defence Minister Ralston and officials said it gave a picture of the Canada-wide contribution to the three brigades which comprise it.

FIRST BRIGADE

The first brigade includes the Lord Strathcona's Horse, and the Fort Garry Horse, western units, and the 1st Canadian Cavalry Regiment (Canadian Guides, Ont.) all of which are armored regiments, and the Westminster Regiment from British Columbia as a motor battalion.

The Second Brigade group includes the 2nd (Toronto), 4th (Sussex, N.B.) and 8th (Equimalt, B.C.), Canadian Motorcycle Regiments and the Perth Regiment (Hamilton).

In the Third Brigade is one infantry regiment, the Cape Breton Highlanders, and with them will be the Royal Canadian Artillery and the 41st (Petawawa, Ont.), 47th (Kingston, Ont.), and 87th (Woodstock, N.B.), light anti-aircraft regiments.

EXTENSIVE TESTS

Officials said that training of the division was proceeding speedily, with extensive manoeuvres and tests of the equipment and straggle.

The tank brigade, which trained with United States tanks in Ontario, is formed of three battalions, compared with the massive organization of the armored division.

In the tank brigade are battalions made up of the Ontario regiment, the Three Rivers regiment and the Calgary regiment. Nine other detachments or sections of the brigade come from Calgary, Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa and include army service corps, workshops, ordnance, intelligence and signals.

Peace Drive By Nazis Underway London Reports

communism and thus have the world, he is prepared to consider peace in the west—apparently a generous peace.

"The Anglo-Russian alliance is being ignored conveniently and as similarly any peace feelers will be ignored Ribbentrop again is wasting his time."

Foreign Secretary Eden two weeks ago predicted a peace offensive, rejecting any Hitler offers in advance.

Fresh inkling that a new peace offensive was likely to be launched came Monday in a warning by Mayor La Guardia of New York. Tuesday, Sumner Welles, acting United States secretary of state, and Stephen Early, presidential press secretary, backed the mayor's warning, but said no official approach had been made by Germany to Washington or President Roosevelt also referred to the matter in his press conference.

NAZIS PLANT PEACE IDEAS AMONG AMERICANS

WASHINGTON, July 16—(AP)—Apparently preparing a cool reception for a spectacular peace offer expected at any moment from Hitler, President Roosevelt asserted Tuesday persons in Europe or the far east were planting peace ideas among well-meaning Americans.

The President's remarks, made at a press conference, were followup to a speech in which Mayor La Guardia of New York said Monday that Hitler's peace proposals, if accepted, would "put control of the world into the hands of an irresponsible fanatic."

The President said that almost every well-meaning person who can rushes to Washington with words that persons abroad have told them. As it would be a perfectly grand thing if peace could be worked out.

In some cases it appears, he said, that the peace plans have been planted with them. The planting has been done, he said, by persons who are fairly high up in foreign countries although they do not actually hold government positions.

This has occurred, he said, at various stages of the war in western Europe and also in connection with the present eastern conflict between Germany and Russia.

Calgary Rolling Mill Plant Will Not Go To Coast

OTTAWA, July 16.—(CP)—Government officials said Tuesday Dominion Bridge Company will not move its Calgary rolling mill to Vancouver as previously planned, presumably because it had been decided work could be started at the present plant site more quickly.

One report reaching here from Calgary said a number of former employees of the company had been called back to work and are putting machinery in condition for reopening.

Russ Counter Drive Shoving Back Hun Army

Moscow, and the Russian Air Force struck back for the third successive night at Pleseti, heart of the German-used Rumanian oil fields.

The report of the Russian counter-drive in the Rogachev-Zhlobin sector, southeast of Bobruisk, was printed in Izvestia, the official government newspaper. How far beyond the previously reported 19 miles the Russians have driven into the German lines was not specified.

HUNS LOSE HEAVILY

Izvestia's information, dated yesterday, said the Germans had lost 1,500 killed and more wounded in the Red army's recapture of Rogachev, at the northern anchor of a 30-mile line on the west bank of the Dnieper southward to Zhlobin. Recapture of both towns was announced by the Russian command Monday.

Russian troops, which crossed the river under a screen of heavy protective artillery fire to take Rogachev, it said, put a number of anti-tank guns and 27 tanks out of commission.

The rationing of some foodstuffs and manufactured articles was ordered by the government today. Rationing cards will necessary for such purchases, effective tomorrow as far as Moscow is concerned. The purpose of the rationing was stated as "the establishment of firm order and organization of continuous supplies for the population of Moscow." How the rest of the country will be affected was not immediately made known.

NEEDED FOR CLOTHING

Food rationing is applied to bread, sugar, vegetable oils, meat and fish. Cards also are required for textiles, ready-made clothes, shoes, stockings and soap.

This is the third time bread cards have been required in the history of the Soviet Union. They were issued first during the civil war in 1918 and remained in use until 1924, and then they were introduced in 1929 and abolished in 1935.

The communique's statement that there were no other "large-scale" fighting took place throughout the night and no significant changes in the position of troops occurred" indicated the Nazis were moving little if any progress through the Ukraine toward Kiev.

POLICY OF "EPILEPSY"

The communique's said of the northern and central front that "during the night fighting continued in the direction of Pskov, Porkhov, Polotsk and Vitebsk."

An earlier war bulletin reported fierce fighting along the central front where the Nazis were mauling and Nazi tank spearheads cut off deep in the Ukraine.

S. A. Losovsky, speaking as assistant chief of the Soviet information bureau, told a press conference yesterday that Germany's recent no longer secret policy, but epilepsy, and declared the Nazis had on their hands what Germany long had dreaded as a many-front war.

Lozovsky said "one front extends from the Arctic ocean to the Black Sea and another includes the whole coast of western Europe from southern Norway via Iceland and the British Isles to Spain."

He said another front "exists within Germany herself—between the Hitlerite gang and the German people," and still another in all the German-conquered countries.

"The anti-Hitler front," Lozovsky said, "is in the heart of every patriot living in the country and its culture and such hearts exist not in Europe alone but hundreds of millions of them, full of hatred toward Hitler, beat in the United States, China, India—wherever people value their freedom and human dignity.

Gas Price Boost Goes Into Effect

OTTAWA, July 16—(CP)—Canadians began paying an extra cent a gallon for gasoline, kerosene and distillate today as the first of four new regulations issued by Oil Controller G. R. Cottrelle came into effect.

The orders, announced yesterday, are coupled in a general appeal to Canadians for a voluntary reduction of 50 per cent. in non-essential consumption of petroleum products.

The three regulations in addition to the price boost—will go into effect two days after publication of the orders in the Canada Gazette, probably next Monday, are:

Sales of gasoline and oil for motor cars to be prohibited from 7 p.m. until 7 a.m. on weekdays, and from 7 p.m. Saturday to 7 a.m. Monday.

All sales of gasoline and oil to be placed on a cash basis, with use of credit cards prohibited.

Sale of gasoline and oil to private car owners by dealers other than those licensed to sell retail forbidden.

No Aluminum For American Civilians

WASHINGTON, July 16.—American civilians will have to do without aluminum for the rest of the year. The office of production management says that not only will there be no new aluminum for civilian use during the last six months of this year—but there will be a shortage of fabricated aluminum parts for defense goods.

be able to devote undivided attention to Britain, without fear of attack from the east.

MISCALCULATED POWER

It is impossible to appraise the exact military situation from the information, or lack of it, made available in the clearest and conflicting communiques. However, it does seem this the German general staff miscalculated Russia's power and will to resist.

Germany, it appears, may have taken on a long and costly war which is likely to leave her vulnerable and exposed in the west. It is now the middle of the fourth week of the campaign and the German forces have driven more than a dent in Russia proper. Unless they begin to make more rapid progress, the expenditure in men, airpower, tanks and equipment is bound to tell and perhaps weaken the entire German war machine on both fronts.

As it is, Germany has weakened her offensive power both in western Europe and the Mediterranean to throw everything she could spare against Russia. The western forces were not reduced to the danger point but held strong enough to resist a counter-attack during a brief lull while Russia was being overcome.

There now is a chance that the lull may be over-long. It is London's conviction that Germany now has to win the Russian campaign or be in danger of losing the entire war.

NOT IN FULL RETREAT

It would not be correct to assume that the war will be over in a few days or the next week or two will prove decisive unless there is a totally unexpected collapse of Russian resistance. An army which, as the German high command admits, is capable of strong counter-attacks certainly is not in full retreat.

German pressure may force the Russians slowly back. The Germans may even take Leningrad, Kiev and then Moscow, and still the campaign might be far from over. Even from Moscow, there are hard miles to the Ural mountains which the Russian army, unless routed, could contest. The German army's communication lines meanwhile would be stretched to a hazardous point.

Britons are figuratively licking their chops over the situation. They have so far taken full advantage of it as far as the war in the air is concerned and have been relentlessly pounding northwestern Germany and the occupied areas of the coast. With everything they have it generally is believed that the Germans have been forced to recall part of their air strength from the east to combat the campaign, but it still goes on day and night.

MILITARY EXPEDITION

When the outcome of the Russian war becomes more apparent, Britain undoubtedly will consider a military expedition to the continent. There is much talk of it in London already, although it is doubtful that Britain would hazard an expedition in this juncture and take the possibility of another Dunkirk.

Britain has about 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 men fully under arms. A majority of them would have to be detached for a successful march on the continent, and if they were beaten, the island would be wide open for invasion.

Japs To Tighten Food Rationing

TOKYO, July 16—(AP)—Foodstuffs such as rice, sugar and cooking oil, already strictly rationed in Japan, will go under even more drastic government control in the near future, Domei News Agency forecast today.

A plan under consideration by the agriculture ministry includes, Domei reported: Gradual introduction of a government monopoly over the sale of important food-stuffs; the storing of staple foods such as rice and wheat to meet a possible emergency; diversion of canned goods, principally seafood such as crab meat, salmon, tuna and sardines, from foreign trade into domestic channels to relieve food shortage.

Hopkins Goes To Britain To Survey Needs

kins used the new trans-Atlantic ferrying service of the army which facilitates the journeyings of officials between the United States and London.

Hopkins made an extensive survey of British war needs last winter.

Although there was no official explanation of his new visit, it was believed he may confer with British officials concerning American lend-lease aid to the Soviet Union, now Great Britain's ally.

Since Hopkins' last visit to London, the United States has completed the first full year of the British-aid program, and the coordinator may desire to discuss the schedules of future production.

LONDON, July 16.—(CP) — W Averell Harriman, head of an American mission co-ordinating United States assistance to Britain, arrived here during the night from Gibraltar. He had been conferring with British leaders in the Middle East for several weeks.

Soviet Able To Supply Army If Moscow Taken

long way to Tipperary," Maisky observed. "Well, it's a long way to the industries which will maintain the Red army against Germany, a long hard way by air or land."

Air observers here said proof of Maisky's words lies in the constant total absence of German report of bombed industrial targets in Russia. They say the Nazi air force has been robbed by distance and by dispersal of targets on which it counted in France and Britain.

Members of the Soviet military mission explained the Red air force's equipment and tactics for dealing with the now-established plan of German attack.

German tactics involve a smash by the heaviest bunker of an armored division on principal objectives, these spokesmen said, with lighter tanks, armored cars and motorcyclists on the flanks.

They said the attacking forces are closely followed by motorized infantry when the tanks, trucks and try to clean up isolated machine-gun and artillery positions which have escaped the tanks.

Soviet aviation, it was said, has developed two types of special planes to cope with this form of attack—one a low-flying fighter with cannon to fire armor-piercing shells into tanks, the other a heavily-armored bomber which swoops simultaneously on infantry and delivers a scorching machine-gun attack.

Then, it was explained, when the Russian commander is satisfied a break has been made in the continuity of the Nazi attack he orders his own infantry, led by light tanks, to counter-charge the German infantry while Russian planes still are attacking the Nazi tanks.

Pacific Coast Is Still Sweltering Under Heat Wave

SEATTLE, July 16—(AP)—Hot spot of the United States the past three days, the Pacific Northwest looked in vain for a promise of a change in weather which sent the mercury skyrocketing to 106 degrees Tuesday.

The heat sizzled from California to Alaska, with North Dallas again reporting the top mark of 108. The northern extremity of the heat wave, Ketchikan, Alaska, reported 85 degrees, holding for four years.

Seattle's 97 was the hottest ever recorded in July. Portland had 105.

To Enroll Women

LONDON, July 16—(CP)—The war office has decided to enroll a number of women in the Royal Observer Corps to act as plane spotters on the south coast. Recruits will be drawn from districts where there is a shortage of men to fill the posts.

through their acts with a smoothness that added considerably to the enjoyment of the show. This promptness and rapid movement of the acts is an attractive feature of the grandstand show.

FIREWORKS DISPLAY

Capping a most thrilling evening of entertainment was the most spectacular display of fireworks ever seen here. Directing the last note of "God Save The King" faded at the conclusion there was a burst of sound like a mighty gun exploding, and suddenly the air was filled with shooting shells that cast off thousands of stars, lighting the sky with myriads of colors.

Form players got a break on the races Tuesday as many well backed horses got up, while there were a few long shots that got down in front to reward the "punter" looking for something to beat the favorite. Feature handicap of the day was won by Eperdue, owned by Nels Ings, Winnipeg, and ridden by Nick Cizik, who rode his first winner at the fall meeting here last year.

Lucky pickers of the daily double, Proud Santa to Modale, got $64.80 for their $2 bet, while the Quinella paid off at the lucrative price of $43.70.

FINE GRAIN EXHIBITS

One of the most popular wins of the day was that of C. S. Williams' Ilkley, who made every post a winning one, to win going away from a classy field in the sixth. Ilkley was given a masterful ride by Harvey Duncan, who never gave the Williams horse a chance to bear out at the turns. This failing has cost Ilkley many races.

Another popular item on the racing card was the win scored by little W. Young when he brought Modala home by a nose to win the third race. It was his first win on a major track, and the huge crowd attending Tuesday's races gave him a marvellous reception. Officials stated that pari-mutuel play compared very favorably with last year.

Although there were no livestock exhibits this year the farmers attending the fair Tuesday spent many hours looking through the agricultural building viewing the wonderful exhibits of grasses, grains, wool, roots and vegetables. One of the busiest spots in the building was the Dominion government exhibit of soils which comprise the agricultural lands of the province. Here there were given information concerning the types of soils and the best types of grain and other crops to be grown on them.

Police headquarters at the grounds reported another quiet day, the first-aid station also reporting did not have a single run to make during the entire day.

Peruvian Forces Are Repulsed In Border Warfare

QUITO, Ecuador, July 16.—(AP) —An army communique Tuesday night said Peruvian forces attempting to cross into Ecuador had been repulsed as fighting in the disputed border area flared anew after several days of comparative quiet.

(In Buenos Aires Monday the foreign ministry announced that Ecuador had accepted a proposal by Argentina, Brazil and the United States to mediate in the dispute.)

Britain's Forces To Leave Iceland As U.S. Takes Over

LONDON, July 16. (BUP)—American troops will eventually replace British forces in Iceland. This statement was made authoritatively here today. It was first announced in London that British troops would be withdrawn, then that they would remain. Now, it is said that as soon as sufficient American troops arrive in Iceland, British forces will evacuate the island.

Emperor Given Resignation Of Japan Cabinet

between these two obligations, and there were reports that Matsuoka might have to step out for that reason. His opponents charged he had presented for the emperor's approval two international accords which proved contradictory.

Reports reaching Shanghai from Japan, a few weeks ago said Matsuoka might be replaced by Mamoru Shigemitsu, ambassador to Britain who was then in New York en route home for consultations.

The fall of the cabinet might mean either that a complete reorientation of Japan's foreign policy was in prospect or that it had stepped aside to make way for a new government unencumbered by responsibility for the Berlin and Moscow pacts.

Such a government might conceivably follow an even more pro-German policy, definitely choosing Berlin as against Moscow, or it might withdraw further from all European commitments.

Grimmest Part Of War Yet To Come

LONDON, July 16—(CP)—A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, told a meeting of seamen today that "the grimmest part of the war is yet to come".

It is now the battle of the Atlantic that our life depends," Mr. Alexander said, "and if we defeat the U-boat and the long-range aircraft our strength will steadily become overwhelming.

"As to the defeat of the U-boat I will tell you . . . that during a recent period I received a series of reports which would encourage any first lord."

In addition to the U-boats reported definitely destroyed, Mr. Alexander said, he was "certain there are more which do not get back to Germany and Italy."

No New Taxation For New Zealand, Budget Reveals

WELLINGTON, July 16.—(CP-Reuters)—Walter Nash, finance minister and acting prime minister, introduced the New Zealand budget today with the declaration there would be no increase in taxation in the current year.

Mr. Nash announced bread, sugar and coal subsidies to aid price stabilization, said other commodity prices would be stabilized later and declared social security benefits would be broadened for families with children.

THE EVACUATION OF PARIS

"The War's Most Indelible Memory"—Robert Casey

Reporter Says Those Who Took Part Will Never Be Done Talking About It

considered pretty old news, but you feel no more hesitation discussing it than you would in adding to the evidence on the flight of the Israelites from Egypt—if you had anything to add.

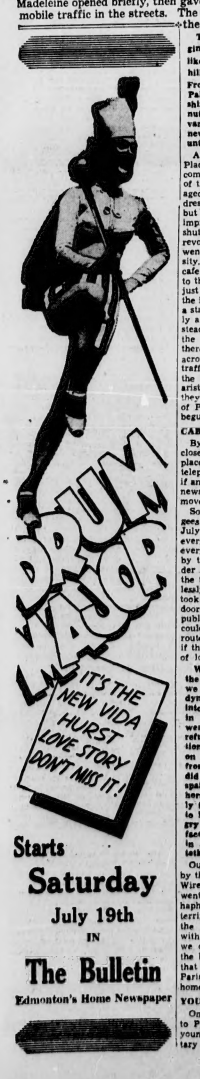

For this, the most astounding mass migration in the history of the world, our culture's outstanding epic of human cruelty, was first of all a movement of frightened individuals. They were elements in a stupendous hegira, only because fear was common to all of them, and the lash of the Nazi and the constrictions of the roads forced them to march shoulder to shoulder, stranger with stranger.

The picture of this unbelievable thing will some day be completed not through any chorus of the masses but in a mosaic of the little things that little people may tell about what each of them saw and did in those fearful times.

A few of us had been down on the Italian front until just before Mussolini declared war. We had come back from the Alps to a Paris already smitten, inarticulate, plunged in stupor. The streets were as empty as if a plague had swept the place—although the exodus had not yet begun—and what people one met in the cafes or hotel lobbies were detached and silent.

Fritz Thyssen Gone

I made a tour of the district within walking distance of the Place de l'Opera to see if I could find anybody who knew what was going on. There was nobody in the Crillon—not even Fritz Thyssen, the inventor of Hitler, who stayed there unchallenged for several weeks. There was nobody in the Meurice, either. The front door of the Lotti was locked . . . I remembered that there had been a lot of Italian waiters in the Lotti. I wasn't sanguine when I stepped across the empty echoing lobby of the Ritz and down the long alley to the bar, which had been the loudest haunt of non-home-going Americans. I ran into the bartender who was closing up for the night. It was then 6 p.m. Harry's New York Bar didn't have anybody in it either except a bartender who said that Harry had gone away somewhere. That night the blackout really worked along the Boulevard des Capucines. The restaurants and cafes were closed or half lighted. The movies near the Madeleine opened briefly, then gave it up. There was no automobile traffic in the streets.

Starts Saturday July 19th IN The Bulletin Edmonton's Home Newspaper

From the approach to Angkor Vat.

The next morning saw the beginning of the retreat, a movement like that of a snowball going down hill. It was a bright, beautiful day.

From the terrace of the Cafe de la Paix you noticed that the sun shining through the arching chestnut trees had splattered the boulevard with greenish light. You'd never had a chance to notice that until the street was deserted.

Across the sunny square of the Place de l'Opera people began to come singly and unhurriedly, but all of them headed toward the southaged concierges meticulously dressed, gray-haired women in neat but old-fashioned silks. You got the impression that these were social shutins, the victims of economic revolutions or other wars who never went out of doors except for necessity. One old lady stopped at the cafe terrace and asked the direction to the Rue de la Paix, which began just across the street. She gave one the impression that she was as much a stranger to it as if she had recently arrived from the hinterlands instead of from some bourne behind the Opera House. By 10 o'clock there was a steady stream coming across the square. By noon the foot traffic was dense and the people in the crowd were not mellowed aristocrats and ex-rich people alone; they were a pretty fair cross section of Paris and the general trek had begun.

CABLE OFFICES CLOSE

By noon the cable offices had closed and there was no longer any place left from which an alien could telephone anywhere. It looked as if anyone who wanted to stay in the newspaper business would have to move out.

So began the ride with the refugees that did not end until mid-July on the dock in Lisbon . . . every day a pageant of misery, every night a nightmare. We slept by the roadside in ditches and under walls, or tried to sleep, while the tide of the retreat rolled ceaselessly on through the darkness. We took what shelter we could get from doorways and the stone floors of public buildings. We ate where we could and when we could, along a route whose restaurants looked as if they had been swept by a plague of locusts.

We were machine-gunned from the air outside of Paris. Rooms we had rented in Tours were dynamited before we could get into them. We were bombed out in Bordeaux. But at least we were better off than most of the refugees, for we had transportation. We did not have to stagger on afoot in this gruesome parade from one death to another. We did not have to watch with despairing eye the faltering of a horse that had not eaten properly for a week. We did not have to listen to the pleading of hungry children, or watch the set faces of loved ones who had come in silence to the end of their tether.

Our route was always determined by that of Press Wireless, and Press Wireless went where government went, but while we followed this haphazard leadership—always with terrified and despairing France on the highways beside us—we took with us a modicum of hope. Maybe we could get away from it before the bombs got us. We didn't think that thousands of wanderers from Paris would ever find their way home again.

YOUTHS, 15, CALLED UP

On the way out of the Alps back to Paris we had seen hundreds of youngsters just called up for military service, boys of 15 and 16 years, and we shuddered to think that possibly they represented the last hope of France. They were going to Tours for training, these kids. They were cheery about it as such kids always are. There was something so like the aura of the last war about them that you felt like looking at a calendar. They hoped they'd get a chance to go to the front. But they were afraid they mightn't. There were so many Frenchmen waiting to finish Hitler before their chance should come around.

We saw some of them in Tours in their nice fresh uniforms, awkwardly handling their recently issued rifles. There were companies of them drilling in the back streets, and they didn't look too well, either.

The artillery was working on the towns up-river from Tours as we went out. The preliminary bombing of bridges and roads had begun. And the last picture of that town that sticks in the mind is a flow of those kids coming out of a caserne at the double, rushing to take over the defense of the Loire. "The Line of the Loire," the experts had called it. The kids had wanted their chance, hadn't they? Well, they got it. We heard about that before we'd got past Saumur. They fought as you'd expect French heroes to fight, eagerly, unquestionably. And their finish was what you'd expect to be the finish of amateurs armed with rifles fighting professionals working machine guns from tanks. Maybe it's just as well they went that way . . . They didn't live to see what happened to France.

Bob Casey's fourth article which appears tomorrow, Thursday, will describe how the Nazis tried to burn London down.

U.S. Government Rids Nation Of German Agents

NEW YORK, July 16—(AP)—The United States government Tuesday night herded more than 500 German and Italian nationals into a giant navy transport and headed them out to sea toward their warring homelands.

Among the last of the expelled Europeans to leave American soil on order of the state department were two of Nazi Germany's most highly placed servants in this country—Dr. Hans Borchers, consul general at New York, and Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, consul at San Francisco.

HUNDREDS OUSTED

Arriving early last night by plane from the west coast, these consuls and 114 others in their entourage boarded the coast guard cutter Arundel for a quick trip down New York harbor to the anchored navy transport West Point.

There they were placed aboard in company of nearly 500 other ousted persons for the seven-day journey to Lisbon.

The West Point—formerly the liner America, the largest civilian vessel ever constructed in the United States—four hours earlier had steamed down the harbor to anchor and await the late arrivals.

RUSHED TO STEAMER

These had flown from San Francisco in three chartered airliners.

Within two hours the group, their five tons of luggage and four dogs, were transferred from planes to automobiles and moving vans and whisked under police escort through 10 miles of heavy traffic to the cutter standing by in the Hudson.

Borchers and Wiedemann, detouring for several minutes, stopped at a hotel where they made several telephone calls, including one to the German embassy in Washington.

Hollywood Actors In Canadian Film

OTTAWA, July 16—(CP)—Alan Hale, Dennis Morgan and George Tobias, leading lights of the motion picture world, reached Ottawa Tuesday and today will begin work with James Cagney on the motion picture "Captains Of the Clouds." Cagney reached Ottawa Sunday.

Five stunt fliers and many other actors reached the capital yesterday and they will use parts in the picture to be based on operations of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Air Marshal W. A. (Billy) Bishop will become a motion picture actor for a day when he appears today in the first scene of the picture presiding at a wing ceremony in which the stars of the picture, Cagney, Morgan, Hale and Tobias will take part along with 450 men and 40 planes.

The scene will be shot at the service flying training school at Uplands, where the Hollywood company will work for three weeks under the aegis of the air ministry before trekking to North Bay, Ont., Halifax and other Canadian locations.

"Captains Of the Clouds" is the story of northern Canadian "bush pilots" who enlist in the R.C.A.F.

Weygand Returns

VICHY, July 16.—(AP)—Gen Maxime Weygand, France's commander-in-chief in North Africa, flew back to Algiers Tuesday after five days of consultations here coinciding with conclusion of the Syrian campaign. It was understood Weygand obtained a clearer definition of his authority over various local administrations in North Africa.

British Sloop Battles Swarm Of Nazi Planes

By LARRY ALLEN

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 16—(AP)—Her stern blown away but all her guns still blazing, the 1,300-ton British anti-aircraft sloop Auckland was sunk June 24 in the Mediterranean under the bomb attack of German planes swarming "thick as flies," British naval sources reported Tuesday.

Thirty-five crewmen were lost and 50 wounded. An officer survivor said the Germans lost seven out of the unusually high total of 80 in the attacking forces.

80 PLANES ATTACK

The Auckland was escorting a ship into the besieged Libyan port of Tobruk when she was attacked 20 miles offshore by 80 Stukas and 20 Messerschmitt 110's—one of the biggest German formations yet to appear at one time along the Libyan coast.

"We were attacked about 6 p.m.," the officer related. "They circled around us then started diving in while we opened up with our eight four-inch guns and every machine-gun aboard.

"The dive bombers swept over five times, scoring a hit each time, then started for the ship we were escorting.

"I estimate that the Nazis dropped between 500 and 600 bombs around us and the other ship, but the latter was not hit and finally made Tobruk safely.

"THICK AS FLIES"

"The Germans seemed thick as flies, coming down on us five or six at one time.

"The first of their bombs aimed at us blew off the stern above the waterline but we kept pumping every gun we had, giving the Nazis a terrific barrage. Within the next four minutes we were struck by four more bombs, one aft and three forward.

"Still our gunners kept firing until the ship was going down so fast there hardly was a gun left above water.

"We made the Nazis pay for it. I saw our guns shoot down at least seven dive bombers. They just seemed so thick we couldn't miss."

Windsor Helps Poor People Of British Colony

NASSAU, Bahamas, July 16.—(CP)—The Duke of Windsor is taking the lead in providing a helping hand from the government for the poor of this British colony who have been hit hardest by the mounting cost of living.

Soon after he became governor of the Bahamas, almost a year ago, the Duke appointed a labor advisory board to study living costs.

The board found a constant upswing in the cost of essentials, due largely to the fact the colony imports most of its foodstuffs and has been shut off from all but essential shipping because of the war.

PROPOSED MINIMUM WAGE

The governor endorsed a recommendation of the advisory board that all common laborers be given a minimum wage by law of four shillings (about 85 cents) for an eight-hour day. This minimum now is imposed only on building construction.

The legislature balked at extending the minimum wage law, and came back with a counter-proposal that the governor find employment for those out of jobs, then propose a floor for wages.

The Duke, unsuccessful in his first attempt to meet the problem of high living costs, then proposed that the customs duty of essentials be reduced.

WAR TAX EXEMPTION

The legislature agreed and, a few days ago, the governor signed an act exempting lumber and shingles, fresh salt meat and raffia used in Nassau's straw-work industry from the special five per cent war tax. The same act reduced the annual license on radios from £1 to five shillings.

Important foodstuffs, such as eggs and milk, already were exempt from the special war tariff.

The Duke made it plain, in signing the new law, that he still was not satisfied with what had been done to meet the higher cost of living and would ask the legislature soon for still further reductions on "certain articles which are essential to the life of a large section of the community."

Seven Doukhobor Objectors Fined, Given Sentences

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., July 16.—(CP)—Seven Doukhobors of Longham district north of Saskatoon were fined and sentenced to jail terms yesterday for failing last June 28 to report for road work in lieu of military training.

They were Saved Alex Givotkoff, Fred P. Ostchoff, Walter Savinkoff, Joe B. Popoff, Joe E. Perekudoff, Henry T. Tarasoff and John W. Vereschahen.

The men sentenced today received penalties of two months with hard labor and fines of $150 each, with three months additional imprisonment in default of payment of fine.

Magistrate J. S. Brannon said that sentences in future would be more severe.

U.S. President's Aid Is Returning To Great Britain

WASHINGTON, July 16—(AP)—High administration sources disclosed Tuesday night Harry Hopkins, supervisor of the lease-lend program and one of President Roosevelt's closest advisors on aid-to-Britain, had left for London.

Hopkins returned from England in February after a special trip to survey the war situation as the President's personal representative.

White House sources refused to comment on his latest assignment.

Oil Controller Tells Of 17 Ways To Conserve Gas

TORONTO, July 16—(CP)—Here are the 17 ways by which gasoline and oil can be saved, as offered by advisers of the oil controller, G. R. Cottrelle:

1—Reduce driving speed from 60 to 40 miles per hour on the open road.

2—Avoid "jackrabbit" starts.

3—Avoid useless or non-essential driving.

4—Turn off the motor of your car when not in use; do not leave it idling.

5—Don't race your engine, let it warm up slowly.

6—Don't strain your engine, change gears.

7—Keep carburetor cleaned and properly adjusted.

8—Tune up motor, timing etc.

9—Keep spark plugs and valves clean.

10—Check cooling system—overheating wastes gasoline.

11—Maintain tires at right pressure.

12—Lubricate efficiently — worn engines waste gasoline.

13—Drive in groups to and from work, using cars alternate days.

14—For golf, picnics and other outings, use one car instead of several.

15—Take short shopping trips on foot and carry parcels home.

16—Walk to and from the movies.

17—Boat owners should reduce speed on pleasure trips.

Harvest Leave Is Granted Army Men

OTTAWA, July 6—(CP)—Canadian soldiers who can be spared from their duties without damage to their unit or their own training will be granted limited leave to assist harvest operations this year, national defence headquarters said Tuesday night.

The leave will not exceed four weeks and may be cancelled at any time. The regulation covering such leave provides that the limited number to whom it is granted must be personnel not engaged on active duty or receiving some important training.

Applications will be made by the soldier to his commanding officer and approval from the general officer commanding the district or other administrative unit will be required.

The policy, general for Canada and similar to that followed last year, applies only to those experienced in farm work, defence headquarters said. A basic provision is that the granting of leave to men to harvest work must not leave their establishment "seriously depleted."

When a man goes on harvest leave he will have no travelling allowances, pay or other assistance and during the period of the leave will lose the benefits of hospitalization, dental or medical care, together with allowances which would be granted in event of injury in the service.

Russ Government Does Not Plan To Evacuate Moscow

MOSCOW, July 16—(AP)—The Soviet government does not contemplate the evacuation of Moscow, S. A. Lozovsky, vice-commissar for foreign affairs, today informed the head of the diplomatic corps, Mahmoud Saed, the Iranian (Persian) ambassador.

The envoy called at the foreign office to ask if any plans were being made to move the government from the capital, in view of the German offensive aimed at Moscow. Lozovsky replied that there was no reason for evacuation.

U.S. Planes Are Flown To Africa

MIAMI, Fla., July 16.—(AP)—The Miami Herald says 10 airliners requisitioned from domestic lines have been flown from Miami to British Gambia in Africa.

They were routed by way of Natal, Brazil, the paper says, adding that 10 other planes are being serviced here while pilots await orders to deliver them to British authorities in Africa.

Transfer of the planes, the Herald continues, is being handled by recently formed Atlantic Airways, Ltd., which opened offices here several weeks ago at the municipal airport.

Made under the Lend-Lease act, the plane transfers resulted from an urgent British request for 50 transports to augment its depleted fleets of such air carriers, especially at Empire points in Australia, New Zealand and Egypt," the paper says.

Keep The Rules

There are a lot of outside cars in Edmonton this week, driven by persons who are strange to local conditions, do not know all the ins and outs of our traffic regulations, and may not always see a stop sign. The police will of course deal gently with these erring ones, as they should.

But the public must not overlook the unusual element of danger that is introduced by the presence of these cars driven by persons not familiar with Edmonton rules and conditions. City drivers and pedestrians alike can do a good deal to prevent congestion and make the streets safer, if they keep strictly to the regulations. There should be no jay-walking and no careless driving this week on the part of the home-town folks. Safety and courtesy both make these unpardonable offences during Fair Week.

Ottawa Isn't Canada

A big recruiting rally in Ottawa netted just one lone volunteer. This perhaps inspired an Ottawa paper to suggest that a plebiscite be taken all over the Dominion on the question of conscripting men for oversea service.

No doubt if voluntary enlistment should fail to keep up the supply of men, a plebiscite would be the best way to take a census of public opinion on the question of conscription for service outside Canada—we already have conscription for service at home. As against a general election fought on the conscription issue, a plebiscite would be by all means preferable. We had one "conscription" election. Nobody who recalls the campaign and the consequences can want another.

But Ottawa isn't Canada, and its one recruit does not reflect the response that has been made and is being made elsewhere for volunteers for oversea. The incident does suggest that something is wrong with Ottawa sentiment, and perhaps with the newspapers which help to create that sentiment, that the patriotic impulse in the capital is so weak. If Ottawa needs conscription, that surely could be arranged without subjecting the whole country to the false imagination that it is needed where it is not needed.

Peace Drive Coming

Mr. Clement Attlee, Lord Privy Seal, says if Hitler gets to Moscow he will launch a drive for a negotiated peace with Britain. He hasn't got to Moscow yet, but should he reach there nothing is more likely than the move Mr. Attlee foresees.

Hitler would be delighted to make a treaty with Britain. He has been angling for a negotiated arrangement via the United States, for weeks. The capture of Moscow would give him a chance to propose "peace" as the destroyer of the Communist threat to other countries. And no one can beat Adolf when it comes to handing out promises of future good behavior.

Canadians, like the people of all the other Allied countries and of the United States, will have to steel themselves against honeyed words and attractive bids for a stoppage of the war should Hitler succeed in beating Russia. No doubt there are in Canada, as Mr. Attlee says there are in Britain, some warweary people, some peace-at-any-price weaklings, some with financial axes to grind, who would be taken in by fair-sounding offers even from the first-ranking promise-breaker of all time. These are the ones to whom a Hitler-peace appeal would be addressed.

The Hitler record shows there can never be peace in this world while he holds control of Germany. He has broken every bargain he ever made. His creed is that bargains are only made to be broken when breaking offers gain. The one way to deal with him is to deprive him of all power for evil, and to teach Germany that the road to war is the road to ruin.

Stop Wasting—Or Else

Regulations have been issued at Ottawa which forbid the sale and purchase of gasoline and oil after seven o'clock in the evening and on Sunday. Obviously there are ways to sidestep these restrictions and make them of no effect in conserving the liquid fuel for war purposes, if anyone is so inclined. He can fill up the tank before the closing hour and on Saturday, keep a few tins in the home garage, and thus drive to his heart's content—if so minded.

The regulations are in fact not so much intended to effectively control the use of gasoline and oil as to impress everyone that it is his patriotic duty to voluntarily cut out joy-riding and all other ways of wasting motor fuel. National consumption has to be reduced 50 per cent if the war industries and war machines are to keep going all-out. This means that pleasure driving will have to be reduced far more than fifty per cent if civilian industries and business vehicles are also to run as usual.

There is of course a warning hint in the regulations that unless this curtailment is effected by voluntary action on the part of motorists, it will be enforced by restrictive orders with hooks in them. What this implies is that the driver who does not want his supply cut to a trifle or cut off entirely by control measures had better put himself on rations at once and do only a third or less the amount of pleasure driving he usually does.

If Canadians are as deadly in earnest about the war as they claim to be, such prohibitory orders will not be necessary. For the choice narrows down ultimately to this: Do we want the R.A.F. to keep on dumping bombs on every enemy target they have planes enough to blast, or do we want some of the planes to have to stay grounded so we can joy-ride?

Newspaper correspondents are to be barred from Iceland until the United States troops have landed and got established there. For once the Axis information-squelchers will not approve of censorship.

The rate at which Italy is losing supply-ships and troop-ships in the Mediterranean must be disconcerting in several quarters, nowhere more than at the headquarters of the mixed Nazi-Fascist army left marooned in Libya. Benito, it almost seems, can't even run a ferry service without help from Adolf.

An official report issued at Rome says Italian war losses total "at least" 255,361 men. June losses in East Africa are conveniently left out of the count, also the 15,000—and ten generals—who surrendered there last week. The figures for the Balkan fighting and the naval actions obviously are fanciful. But even so the total is large enough to make the Italian people wonder whether it was worth while to sacrifice so many men in order to lose the East African empire and have Italy garrisoned by German troops.

Writing a farewell note to the Syrians, Marshal Petain said: "France is going to suffer an eclipse in the Levant as sad for her as for you." It isn't in Syria that France has suffered eclipse, but at Vichy, where the word of Hitler is law for Frenchmen. In Syria the French mandate has passed to Britain for safe-keeping, to be returned to France when the war is over if France then has been rescued from its status as a German province and restored to independence. Meanwhile, Frenchmen will carry out France's obligations in Syria as representatives of France, not of Germany.

Germans Expect Defeat In This War And Even Prefer It

Gloomy Hun Nature Revels in Reverses Is Idea of One of Them

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

The fighting spirit of the German people has three fundamental weaknesses. The first is one which the Nazis share with their German opponents, and which is a purely national characteristic. This is a profound pessimism and defeatism which, temporarily submerged in a blare of bombast and self-stimulation, culminates in a tragic cult of death and decay; and coupled with this is a highly susceptible imagination which inclines the Germans to fantasy and myth rather than to fact and reason. The second and third fundamental weaknesses are rooted in the internal politics of Germany. They derive from the fact that Germany, under Nazi domination, is first an unhappy, and secondly a disunited land.

(1) The German press has recently been in the habit of adorning the German army and the German people with the epithet "unconquerable." This is no less than a mass-hypnotic frontal attack on the deep knowledge of all Germans—that they are the most easily conquered nation in the world, and on the inexorable premonition that they will come to a bad end.

This premonition is not only fed by the inescapable memories of 1914-18, but from deeper sources as well. The whole Nazi adventure is no more than a new version of a drama that has unrolled itself dozens of times in German history and has always, without exception, ended in catastrophic defeat and tragedy. From the time of the Cimbri and Teutons until 1914 there has been enacted over and over again, fatalistically, the same simple and impressive myth: the rise of a leader; the rallying forth of the nation; the destruction of its hearths, traditions and shrines; irruption into foreign living-space; immense and awe-inspiring victories and triumphs; the transient imposition of a hated dominion over foreign peoples; the turn of the tide; sudden collapse and terrible disaster, often accompanied by the annihilation and extermination of entire tribes.

Such was the course followed by the crusades of the Cimbri and Teutons, the Germanic wars at the time of the Great Migration, and the wars of conquest of the Ottos and the Hohenstaufen in the Middle Ages, to name only the most important. Then the myth lay dead for six hundred years, to be resurrected in the nineteenth century as a romantic yearning for Emperor and Empire. With "blood and iron," which served as a motto, the Reich came alive again; 1914 to 1918 saw the first complete new version of the horrifying spectacle in modern dress. Then another fifteen years of wavering and indecision. And in 1933 began another performance of the bloody drama.

Victories and triumphs do not in the least mitigate the profound foreboding of an unhappy end. On the contrary, they strengthen it. For these victories and triumphs are but part of the historical myth. After Siegfried comes the Twilight of the Gods—is there a German who is not aware of this? The Nazis know it, too. Their official poetry extracts a kind of heroic pathos from the knowledge:

Over a nation of corpses
Flare the flames of eternal glory.
Let us die like the Goths.

That is from one of the Poems of the German Revolution, by Otto Bangert, a Storm-Trooper poetaster. And one of the greatest prophets of Nazism, Stefan George, exclaims:

Flaxen-haired band! Know this!
Your own God before victory is wont,
Assassination, to stalk you ahead.

Wait With Heroism

They know it and they await it, all of them. The brave try to face the inevitable with steely heroism. The cowards try to drown their secret knowledge in savage and nauseating boasts; but it cannot be exorcized, and it perpetually torments them.

The reaction of the Germans will depend on their perceiving that "the hour has struck." They are as brave as any other nation so long as they feel the wind of battle and victory behind them; but they yield helplessly to panic and dread when they realize that the tide has turned. For proof we have only to recall the incredibly sudden collapse of the morale of the Kaiser's "unconquerable" armies in August 1918. This was not cowardice; it was something more fundamental.

And how do they know when "the hour has struck"? They know it solely by the use of their imagination and senses, never by a hard-headed weighing and reckoning of their chances. A change in the atmosphere; the feeling that the breeze has suddenly taken to blowing from another direction; a sudden and startling set-back or counter-blow; the failure, above all, that the initiative has been irretrievably lost to the enemy—such things will make them forget, in their overwhelming, what power they have to defend themselves, just as before a consciousness of invincible strength was enabled their souls to defy overwhelming odds. Had they found themselves in England's position after the French collapse last summer, the Germans would have capitulated in a swoon. Proof: the certainty with which they expected it of England. What the Germans at the moment can least endure is shock.

(2) One must never forget the fundamental fact that the Nazis constitute only a minority of the German people: about 20 per cent of all grown-up and young Germans, scarcely more than 15 per cent of the adult population. The vast 80 per cent majority can be divided into approximately equal sections: those who are passive confederates of the Nazis, from sheer habit of obedience and unintelligent patriotism, and those who are their helpless foes in blind despair and bitterness. One thing those millions have in common —their misery.

Dull in Victory

During last year, without exception, all neutral observers in Germany again and again remarked upon the fact that the Germans accept their successful victories in a mood of dumb and dull despondency. "Victorious Germany, Land of Gloom" is the phrase with which the correspondent of an important American newspaper described the impression he received. Those who are not acquainted with the conditions in Germany, it may seem incredible and highly perverse. There is reason for it.

Those 80 per cent of the German people who are not Nazis have long felt little enthusiasm for the Nazi victories. They are not any happier because of them. These victories neither make up for their sacrifices, nor give them the hope which, like all other normal men, they desire: freedom, peace, security, private living-space, private happiness, a good conscience, homely pleasures and the right to choose their own jobs. On the contrary, they see these things fading faster into the distance with every victory and with every "world-shaping" deed. They feel that what is happening in their name, and even with their participation, does not really concern them, and that, not only will they have to pay a terrible, ever-mounting price in the end, but that they will have to pay for it for an entertainment they have neither ordered nor enjoyed. Could they but see a practicable way out, and could they believe they are treading, back to the good things they have lost, how eagerly would the mass of them flock towards it!

Potential Weakness

But this is a potential and not an actual weakness. It can only materialize when the alternative to the drama staged by the Nazis can assume a clear, positive and credible form. Only then can we expect strikes, mass-sabotage, and mass-defection, and not earlier, despite all the discontent and misery. For the moment the Germans can see no alternative to enduring tyranny at home except to endure foreign domination, and no alternative to existing as a hated robber-state but to exist as a despised nation of pariahs. So long as this is the case their unwilling but passive loyalty to the Nazis will endure. In order to change this we must offer the Germans an alternative: a rational political vision.

(3) Almost every German has an inner premonition of tragedy to come, and is, therefore, to be deflected from this course by sustained shock. Eighty per cent of them are unhappy, and are consequently disposed to yield if they are shown some practicable alternative. Thirty to forty per cent are filled with positive hatred for the Nazis and their war, but are doomed to inertia by the lack of a revolutionary slogan and a revolutionary technique. Unexampled terror and repression are needed in Germany to prevent the outbreak of a sanguinary civil war.

The preliminary skirmishes of such a struggle were already taking place in 1932 and at the beginning of 1933. During this period more than a thousand people were killed in armed affrays in the streets and at political meetings. Hundreds of thousands of young Germans were organized into Communist, Republican, Monarchist and Nazi civil-war militia. The coup d'etat of January 30, 1933, and the mass-terror which followed it, broke the power of the anti-Nazi battalions. They did not eradicate their inveterate enmity.

Bitter Enemies

In the last German parliamentary elections of March 5, 1933, the Nazis polled 44 per cent of the votes and their opponents 56 per cent. Even if we are to allow that a considerable proportion have been dazzled by Nazi triumphs, and if we make no allowance for the one-time supporters of the Nazis who have been disappointed and antagonized, the most cautious estimate still leaves 50 per cent of those who are bitter and irreconcilable enemies of the regime.

What prevents the civil war which is latent in Germany from breaking out? The reasons are:

(1) A machinery of repression and intimidation that has no parallel in the history of Europe.

(2) The historical and traditional ineptitude of the German in revolution.

(3) Above all, the complete lack of any external inspiration and of a revolutionary technique.

This inspiration can today be provided by England, and the revolutionary mechanism can be built up by exiled Germans in England, if the English people so desire. For the revolutionary sentiments of the German opposition parties have already produced a positive achievement, the German emigration. Thousands of political leaders and rank and file have smuggled themselves out of Germany in the last 3½ years in spite of all the obstacles that have been placed in their path. Despite most adverse circumstances they have already made a preliminary work of organization and spiritual preparation for the setting-up of an anti-Nazi centre. There is no need to dilate upon what the French and English governments have done to these people. It can still be undone, at least in England. The revolutionary power-station can still be erected which will ignite the suppressed yet smouldering spark of revolution in Germany. Still; but one day it will be too late.

Tales Of The Race Track

Both Tragedy and Comedy Stalk at Heels of World's Greatest Sport

By J. S. COWPER

This is the time for horse-racing, the sport of kings. Fate has thrown me in the past few weeks into the company of horse-owners and bookmakers.

At lunch the other day, one of the latter told me of a friend of his in Holland who at the track with only a dollar in his pocket borrowed another dollar from a friend named Forshaw to back his fancy. The horse, as sometimes happens, came home in front, so the pair placed their winnings on another fancy. It too came home. For six times the pair succeeded in picking winners. Though they lost $650 on the seventh and last race of the day, they divided something like $4,000 between them.

The incident wasn't told as "come-on" stuff, for the fellow who was "Don't go betting in the hope of making money. Some are lucky and come out ahead of the game, but the odds are against the man who bets."

I'd always thought that racehorse-owners were well on the alert for racing information, but, according to the table talk that is not the case. One owner whose horses earned $17,000 during a summer at Winnipeg and Vancouver, admitted to having his money on other horses in both races. On another occasion when he did back his own horse, it lost.

Their judgment doesn't seem any better than yours and mine. At a Toronto meet some years ago betting at 7 to 1 chance and not knowing one horse from another, I managed by a freak to back six winners in a row. But I didn't collect much. Each Mine were $2 bets each time and I came home with nearer $40. Which goes to show I am no true gambler.

Passing Up a Fortune

The only time I might have made a fortune on the track I passed the opportunity up. A distracted woman a year before had come to my office to see if I could help her recover $125 she had entrusted to a stranger she met in Stanley Park, who told her of the vast winnings he made on "fixed" races. He had pocketed her money and told her it was lost on a loser. Of the total —all she and her husband had in the bank —$25 was to pay a premium due on his insurance policy.

"He'll kill me for sure. He's a shell-shocked veteran and flies in murderous rages when upset. He only earns $80 a month and this money is all our savings," she said, when I advised her to tell her husband frankly how foolish she had been.

As she was so terribly upset she let the insurance collector call on the husband. I gave her $25 to meet the insurance and recommended that she try and replace the lost money by right-betting. She was very grateful and promised when able to do so, to repay the $25 with interest.

Knowing how easy-going her cousin promised are, I was surprised a year later when she called to repay me. Said she, "I haven't any money, but I've made the acquaintance of a jockey and he's all fixed for the third race tomorrow. If you'll let me have $200 to bet for you, you'll make a fortune."

"And can I also make sure of getting my winnings if the horse wins?"

"Oh, I'll look after that. The jockey will explain it all and he'll be one of the party. Then I'll split with you."

So I passed up the opportunity of a fortune. According to the papers the horse came in last.

Hubby Was Sympathetic

All husbands are not shell-shocked veterans who fly into murderous rages when they wive lose money at the races. Some take the news with rare sympathy and understanding.

I heard of a wife who was forced to confess to her husband that she had lost the housekeeping money and the money in their joint bank account in playing the races. She was terrified when he said, "I'm not sore at you. It's all a gamble. You did it for the best. Luck was against you. You may play for two or three days on end and then the luck turns. I've got $100 I've been holding in my wallet. You take it back to the track tomorrow and try your luck again. You may win back all you've lost."

Sure enough her luck had changed. With $7.50 to the good she hurried home to tell her husband of her successful day at the races. A second hand dealer's wagon was at the curb and the men were carrying out the chesterfield suite.

Sympathetic hubby had used the chance while she was at the races to sell up the household furniture, give the second-hand dealer a bill of sale and head for parts unknown.

The Big March In Asia

Nazis Decline Politically

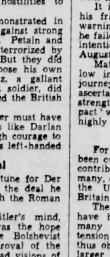

Hitler Must Realign Diplomatic Alliances to Retain His Strength

By HAROLD L. WEIR

In the Russian venture, as I have pointed out before, Hitler has sustained political defeats as disastrous as the military defeats he has suffered at the hands of Soviet troops.

Even the Vichy crowd ventured to cross him in the case of the Syrian surrender.

Quite obviously, it was Hitler's will that the French should continue the fight in Syria no matter what casualties they suffered and what losses they incurred. So long as the British troops were kept occupied in that region, he did not care what price was paid in French blood.

Harold L. Weir

Vichy, therefore, was instructed to keep the fight going at all costs. That was why they lied and stalled and tricked over the several armistice proposals—merely trying to prolong hostilities to oblige Berlin.

After it was clearly demonstrated in Russia that Hitler was up against strong opposition, Vichy took heart. Petain and his colleagues were still too terrorized by Hitler to defy him openly. But they did permit General Dentz to choose his own course. And General Dentz, a gallant Frenchman and an excellent soldier, did the sensible thing and accepted the British terms.

The prestige of Adolf Hitler must have fallen very low if bootlickers like Darlan and Laval mustered up enough courage to oppose his wishes even in this left-handed way.

The Church Deal

Another diplomatic misfortune for Der Fuehrer was the collapse of the deal he tried desperately to make with the Roman Catholic Church.

Very prominently in Hitler's mind, when he attacked Russia, was the hope that his action against the Bolshevist atheists would earn the approval of the Holy See. He undoubtedly had visions of some measure of Church support which would not only relieve the pressure on a good many of his own Germans and render the Italian problem less difficult but which might have prevented the alliance of Catholic Poland with Russia.

Doubtless His Holiness the Pope finds little to choose between the godless paganism of Nazi Germany and the boasted atheism of Communist Russia.

But he refused to fall for Hitler's bait. On the contrary, he disappointed the Nazis by saying absolutely nothing about their anti-Bolshevik "crusade" in a speech made a week after the outbreak of German-Russian hostilities.

And a week ago Sunday, the Roman Catholic bishops of Germany issued a pastoral letter, indirect but obvious, which constituted one of the sharpest challenges to Nazism heard for a long time in continental Europe.

Drumming Up Friends

In his effort to realign his diplomatic alliances, Hitler is using the American occupation of Iceland till it is worth.

Diplomatic activity in Portugal, Spain and unoccupied France has been tremendously intensified.

Nazi agents are trying desperately to sell these countries the idea that this move is not the first of United States' efforts to secure control of the Atlantic, but that other similar activities are planned.

The contribution German press has been loud in its forecasts that the Azores, the Cape Verde Islands and Dakar may be occupied by American forces at any moment.

Thus, Hitler is using Iceland as a lever to pry all these countries loose from their specious neutrality and line them up solidly against any new American move.

His apparent success in this attempt, up to the moment, is not conspicuous.

Japs in Doubt

Nor has Hitler been enjoying his recent relationship with the Japanese. There is a feeling of strain and distrust growing between them.

The Japanese have not yet revealed the upshot, if any, of the hectic conferences they have been having with their Ambassador and among themselves ever since their undependable ally, Germany, startled them with his unannounced attack on Russia.

It is now established that Hitler gave his friend Matsuoka only a few hours' warning of the German about-face just as he failed to advise Japan in advance of his intention to make a deal with Russia in August, 1939.

Matsuoka's stock is said to be pretty low in Japan especially as he made a journey to Berlin and Rome last March to ascertain the lay of the land and, on the strength of what he learned, put through a pact with Russia—a pact that is now highly embarrassing.

Germans Complain

For several months, the Germans have been complaining that Japan has failed to contribute what it owes to the Axis. Germany, of course, wants Japan to so engage the United States that it cannot help Britain.

The Japanese could retort that they have been doing a good job for Germany by maintaining a high degree of tension and uncertainty in the Far East, thus obliging the United States to keep a larger part of its naval strength in the Pacific than the situation in the Atlantic makes it convenient to do.

But the Germans do not consider that enough. Hence the strained feeling between Hitler and Tokyo.

Japan, of course, will bear watching. But there are growing rumors now that rather than risk a conflict pitting her with Russia or Great Britain and the United States, Japan may play safe and take more loot from the Dutch East Indies and Thailand where resistance is sure to be negligible.

It may be assumed that should Germany succeed in crushing Russian resistance and setting up half a dozen puppet regimes in place of the present central Russian government, Japan would seek to advance its interests by some quick move against Russian territory in the Far East.

But, in spite of the fact that the Japanese are moving furtively closer to the Siberian frontier, there is nothing very positive about their attitude.

Indeed, they are surreptitiously thumbing their noses at Berlin right now.

Hitler has lost prestige on every hand. Even the Japanese, the most gullible and inept of diplomats, appear to know it.

LLOYDMINSTER

"Carry On Canada" Slogan Now Applied to Lloydminster Fair

"Carry On Canada" is the slogan that is heard from coast to coast and, although it is linked up with the war effort, it also applies to seasonal activities of citizens of Canada. The Lloydminster Exhibition Association claims the slogan applies to them, and as in pre-war days, members are striving to give citizens of Lloydminster and district three grand days and nights of amusement, with educational features thrown in, at the annual exhibition, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

As in past years one of the outstanding features of the exhibition will be the display of horses, cattle, swine and sheep, for which the exhibition is noted throughout the western provinces. There will also be exhibitions of ladies and children's work, grains and grasses and the exhibition of the Lloydminster Horticultural Society which in past years has amazed patrons from outside points.

Baseball tournament will be one of the features of the sporting events of the three days, and Neilburg, entered in the tournament at the Saskatoon exhibition, has entered in the Lloydminster Exhibition. To date six other clubs have entered, including North Battleford, Maidstone, Makwa, Fort Pitt, North Bend, and Paradise Hill.

A feature of the horse races will be the riding of the smallest and youngest professional jockey, Tommy Russell, known as the "Galloping Kid," who is only 11 years old and weighs 60 pounds. He will ride 'Flying Saxon", a fast entry from Chauvin.

In order to stage the platform spectacle, "Colors Flying", the exhibition directors have had a new platform erected in front of the grandstand on which the nightly jilney dance will be held to Dave Gustin and his band. The Dominion Department of agriculture, the Pool Elevators and the North West line elevators have all stated that they will have displays at the exhibition.

Willkie Lauds Unified Effort British Labor

NEW YORK, July 16—(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie said Tuesday "we must gear ourselves to a high level of production, and the first step toward accomplishing this is a voluntary, harmonious adjustment of our industrial relations."

"It is incredible that in America bayonets should be used to solve problems that need only wise co-operative effort," he said in a prepared address broadcast over the N.B.C. blue network under auspices of the American labor committee to aid British labor.

LABOR'S CONTRIBUTION

Willkie said that while he was in England he attended a meeting of the trades union council at which he spoke of British labor's splendid contribution to Britain's united war effort.

British labor would not be misled when the time came to write the peace, Willkie said he was told, and was interested in making "men free everywhere—even in Germany," realizing that there would be no safety or security for British labor in competition with an enslaved economy.

Willkie said thousands of dollars have already been contributed by working men and women of America to their distressed comrades in Britain.

SIGNIFICANT RESPONSE

"Workers who have never felt the devastating cruelty of deadly and daily bombings, have generously responded to the need of free men over 3,000 miles away," he said. "This is significant.

"It means that men and women, who have lived free lives, value freedom and the effort to preserve it wherever it may be threatened. They realize that freedom cannot be destroyed in any part of the world without being endangered in all parts of the world."

"And when Nazism is crushed, we, too, will demand that there shall be a peace written in understanding of the aspirations of all men for freedom and opportunity, where labor and enterprise in partnership shall harness and direct this industrial age, not for the destruction of men, but for their fulfillment."

Banff Trip For Riders Of Trail

BANFF, July 16—With only the common love of the mountain spaces as their impulse, 85 trail riders of the Canadian Rockies will form the annual five-day cavalcade through pine-scented woods and along the high passes leaving Banff July 25.

Artists, writers, teachers, businessmen, lawyers, doctors, students and stenographers will shortly gather for two of the most democratic outings in the Canadian Rockies. The other is the annual trek of the Skyline Trail hikers, which will camp four days from Friday, August 1, to Monday, August 4, inclusive, at Prolific Meadow, southwest of Banff on the Banff-Windermere highway.

William U. Bardwell, young Chicago attorney, will head the cavalcade as president, replacing Dr. C. Wesley Prowd of Vancouver.

This year's route lies over White Man's Pass from Calmore, Alta., into Mount Assiniboine by way of Spray Lakes, and will return by way of Simpson Summit, Rock Isle Lake and Healy Creek.

The hikers will go in from the highway by bus and their duffle will be brought in by pack pony. Though reservations have closed for the trail ride, Dan McCowan, Banff, secretary, reports that there are still a few vacancies for the hike to Prolific Meadow.

Empire Fliers In Action Commended

LONDON, July 16—(CP)—A Canadian while on reconnaissance ground-strafed with great success 100 Junkers machines lined up "wing tip to wing tip" on a Libyan airdrome, says the air ministry news service describing the role played by Empire airmen in the Middle East.

South African squadrons have recently arrived in North Africa from Abyssinia and Italian East Africa. In addition to British squadrons, there are Canadians, Rhodesians, Australians, New Zealanders and a number of Free Frenchmen.

Deeds of the Australian fighters in the first Libyan campaign need no recalling, says the news service. It was a New Zealand pilot who played a great part in shooting down a big Italian bomber during a daylight raid over Alexandria. During the German push a Rhodesian shot down the first MB 109.

Looking them Over

by JACK KELLY

AFTER broiling mentally and physically yesterday at the Exhibition track, it is a pleasure to get back to the sane and orderly ways of baseball where records mean something and you don't have to do mental gymnastics in a maze of such unanswerable questions as: (1) How does the horse feel today? Is he full of gallop or is he wishing he was eating grass in the shade of big trees along a cool stream? (2) Does his owner want to win today or just give his nag a stiff workout? (3) Is the jockey agressaile to the horse winning and is he capable of plotting the critter home first? (4) How do all the other horses, owners, trainers and jockeys feel about the race?

For years now I've been watching the experts dope races out in advance. There seems to be roughly three different schools of thought or techniques.

The first of these is the statistical school which stresses voluminous records and complicated analysis of past records. There are scores of guiding rules laid down by this fraternity but if you try to follow them faithfully you'll wind up by concluding that there isn't a single horse in the field that has a statistical right to win. You may fancy one, but a few minutes more study will show that two or three others have just as good a chance to gallop home first.

Then there is the super-scientific school. Its members are few and very close mouthed. Each has worked a system and he plays it religiously. One of the favorite systems uses index numbers for the horses. These numbers being arrived at by some form of mathematical hocus-pocus that defies explanation. This school never admits a defeat. If the nag indexed at 227 is beaten by a 220 horse, the system is not at fault. Instead the mistake occurred in giving the wrong evaluation to some factor in the equation that produces the index number.

The third school may be classified as the realists of the turf. They don't bother with charts, equations or past performances. They work on the assumption that each day brings a race or two in which some group is going to crack down for a good payoff. Their technique is to cultivate the friendship of owners, trainers, jockeys, exercise boys, swipes—any one who might be in a position to know something in advance.

If you are a thorough citizen, you are probably deciding that the way to folding money is to make a concensus of all three schools of prognostication, but you're wrong—that way leads straight to the nut house—and I don't mean the one where the salted almonds come from.

Secret of DiMaggio's Hitting

BALL players from the Rio Grande to Nome are looking at pictures of Joe DiMaggio swatting a baseball and trying to ape his stance.

"Joe DiMaggio differs from most great hitters in that he stands with his feet wide apart, fully 40 inches," says Harry Grayson, veteran sport writer who has followed the major leagues for some 30 years.

"Judging by the finish of his swing, you might suspect that DiMaggio takes a long step in swatting the sphere, but he doesn't. His left foot moves forward no more than six inches when he picks out the ball he wants to label.

"That is the secret of the consistency of the Yankees' one-man conflagration and every other outstanding clouter. His step is short and he doesn't make it until he has an excellent slant on what the pitch is going to be.

"That is why DiMaggio seldom is caught off balance or out of position. He doesn't commit himself until the pitcher shows his hand . . . until he has ample reason to suspect what is coming.

"DiMaggio came by his wide stance naturally. He was a devastating whacker from the outset, and Jimmy Caveney and Frank O'Doul, who managed him in San Francisco, had the good sense to let him alone.

"DiMaggio cocks his bat and holds it perfectly still. He keeps his head steady all the way through. There never is the slightest variance in the DiMaggio swing. The main idea is to bring the bat into the ball. Joe DiMaggio got it early and has never had any reason to change.

Silver Hawks Will Stage Fifteen Mile Bike Handicap

The 15-mile bike handicap for the Air Force Trophy being staged under the auspices of the Silver Hawks Club has been set for next Friday night and a large entry list is expected.

The race will start at the corner of 80th Ave. and 104th Street and the course will be seven and a half miles down the Calgary highway and back to the starting point.

Starting time has been set for 7 p.m. and it is likely that the elapsed time will be approximately 25 minutes, so that the finish will be just after 7:30.

This is the first major event put on by the Silver Hawks Club this year and there promises to be plenty of competition from bike racing enthusiasts in the city.

The trophy is being put up by one of the members of the Royal Australian Air Force.

Entry forms for the races may be obtained from Messrs. Morrison and Barnes, Jewelers.

"Alberta Handicap Winner"

Epernay, owned by N. Ings, of Winnipeg, successfully fought off an all-out challenge of Ebro, the Weaver and O'Brien entry from Big Horn, Wyoming, in the "Alberta Handicap," Tuesday's race feature at the Exhibition. The winner is shown with Jockey N. Cizik up, just after being decorated by Mrs. W. Leigh Brintnell.

Next Three Days May Determine Teams That Will Meet in World Series Battle

NEW YORK, July 16.—(AP)—Both major leagues have reached a crisis in their pennant races at the same time and the eventual world series rivals may be tabbed for all to admire before the weekend. In the next three days the rampaging New York Yankees will have a chance to settle their American League argument in three games with the second-place Cleveland Indians five games behind. Brooklyn Dodgers, four games in front, will clash twice with St. Louis Cardinals for mastery of the National League.

This puts the rest of the race directly up to the second-place clubs. Either they have to stop the Yanks and the Dodgers or else the leaders are not going to be stopped.

The Dodgers swept two games from Chicago Cubs yesterday 7-0 and 8-4. Curt Davis pitched a four-hit masterpiece in the first, facing only 28 men as the result of three double plays. It was his third shut-out and the 11th of the season by a Dodger pitcher in the nightcap Luke Hamlin pitched a six-hitter. Meanwhile the Cards had to go to 16 innings to wring out a 3-2 victory over the tail-end Phillies.

The Yankees nosed out Chicago White Sox 5-4 yesterday while Boston Red Sox curbed Cleveland 6-2.

JOE REACHES 55 GAMES

Joe DiMaggio made a double and a single and was on base four times out of five trips to the plate, to stretch his phenomenal hitting streak to 55 consecutive games, but the heavy duty drive in the Yankee triumph was provided by Buddy Rosar's triple with the bases loaded in the third and by Norman Branch's fine relief pitching.

The Indians were held to four hits by Joe Dobson, whom Cleveland gave to Boston in the big six-player deal of last winter.

BUCK SHOWS FORM

In the other action yesterday Buck Newsom showed he is rounding into form again by holding Philadelphia Athletics to seven hits as the Detroit Tigers eked out a 3-2 decision. Barney McCosky hit a homer for the deciding run.

John Vander Meer smothered Boston Braves 3-0 on four hits for his fourth shutout as Cincinnati Reds made good use of their eight blows off Al Javery and Johnny Hutchings.

New York Giants made four errors and gave four unearned runs in kicking away a 5-1 verdict to Pittsburgh Pirates, who benefitted from a seven-hit pitching performance by big Max Butcher.

U. S. Swimmers Make Fast Time

SWAN LAKE, N.Y., July 16—(AP)—Helene Raing and Gloria Callen of New York took turns breaking listed world records in the eighth annual A.A.U. swimming meet in the 20-yard President pool here Tuesday.

Miss Raing won the 220-yard breast stroke in 1:11 to better the listed mark of 3:14.8, and her swimming time of 4:26.8 in the 500-yard breast stroke shattered the listed record of 4:34.2.

Miss Callen, the United States 100 metre back stroke queen, won Tuesday's 100-yard back stroke event in 1:09.2 to clip the listed time of 1:09.9.

Originally scheduled this month at the Polo Grounds, Promoter Mike Jacobs says it positively will take place Sept. 5 in Madison Square Garden.

The lightweight championship fight between Lew Jenkins and Sammy Angott, originally assigned the Sept. 5 date, has been postponed to Oct. 3.

Public Choices Collect Most of Tuesday's Purses

FAVORITES and near-favorites gave form bettors a profitable afternoon as Tuesday racing at the Exhibition meet drew a good average crowd who sweltered under the blistering heat and gulped cold drinks by barrels.

The Alberta Handicap, feature race of the day, was won by Epernay, the nine-year-old black gelding owned by J. E. Angers and trained by N. Ings of Winnipeg. Epernay led all the way from the first turn and stood off a stiff challenge by Ebro in the last quarter.

With the horses running true to form, there were no sensational payoffs although most races yielded nice returns. The daily double of Proud Santa and Modale was worth $64.80 for each of 40 tickets in the winning pool.

First Race: Proud Santa was the choice of the public for the opening gallop and the seven-year-old gelding, owned by D. Jones of Fallis, didn't disappoint. He was in front from the half-way mark to win with two lengths to spare. Wreckdale, longest shot in the race, pulled into second spot by a neck over Miss Zephyr, second favorite with the bettors.

Second Race: Drums won the second by two lengths over Victoria M. The latter moved up from fifth place at the three-quarters pole under the riding of Nickie Cizik but couldn't quite make it. Victoria M was the top-heavy favorite in the betting. Third place money went to Lilly Lake. Highlight of the gallop was the bid that Sporting Hi made. This Bruns three-year-old was in second place, right on the heels of Drums, up to the three-quarters pole when Jockey Stallings lost his stirrup. Sporting Hi finished last in the six-horse field.

TWO FIRST WINS

Third Race: Modale, four-year-old filly owned by J. W. Stirk of Casper, Wyoming, scored her first win of the year in this mile and a sixteenth test. It was also the first time that W. Young has ever ridden a winner on a recognized race track. Young brought Modale up to sixth place at the half-way mark to squeeze into first money by a neck over Happy Hunter who led the field all the way. Warrior Boy finished third after being in second place from the first quarter.

The daily double of Proud Santa to Modale was worth $64.80 for each of the 40 tickets in the winning pool.

Fourth Race: The public picked Sage Girl to win the seven furlong fourth event—and the public was right for once. Sage Girl won it all the way with seven full lengths to spare and never once seeing another horse's heels ahead of her. Crushed Ice looked like an easy second until just before the finish line was reached. Canuse and Brownie Mode and Nekena jumped in to place second, third and fourth.

EPERNAY WINS HANDICAP

Fifth Race: The Alberta Handicap, feature race of the day, was the seven furlong sprint and it was taken by Epernay, the most consistent sprinter on the circuit. He moved up on the outside at the first turn to take a clear lead on the backstretch and won by a length. Ebro came out of the field to challenge all through the last quarter but gained third. Straight Over was the and finish second. Messenger Maid favorite in the betting but was pinched off by Tea Merchant who came over as they left the starting gate.

Sixth Race: Ilkley was in front all the way in the mile and sixteenth sixth race to pay the biggest nose price of the day—$14.55. Tea Club did most of the challenging and finished second. Parvant, the favorite, challenged on the last turn but tired under the heavy handicap weight of 120 pounds and finished third.

Seventh Race: This was another long gallop over a mile and a sixteenth and was won by the stout effort with a sensational drive that brought him from last place to beat out Sky Celt by three-quarters of a length. Sky Celt took the lead from Jolo at the half-way mark and held it until Fort Craig overhauled him in the last few yards. Leyhaun was a distant third. Fort Craig was the favorite in the betting.

Negotiations are continuing for Boon to meet Canadian title holder Dave Castilloux for an Empire title.

Buffaloes Defeat Army, Navy Pats By Score Of 7-4

Big Orange Buffaloes trimmed Army and Navy Pats 7-4 at Kingsway Park on Tuesday night in a Senior Girls' Softball League game.

Eileen Renioul for the Buffs allowed only six hits, no two of which came in the same inning. She struck out five and gave one pass to first.

Top hitter of the game was Vickie Wynnyk with a double and single in four times at bat.

The teams each scored a pair of runs in the first and third frames and the tie-breaking run was counted by Kay MacRitchie in the fourth on two errors and a wild pitch.

Heaviest hitting by the Buffaloes was in the fourth when singles by Vickie Wynnyk and Marion McConnell and triples by Jean Barton and Mabel Geddes came in succession and were good for the pair of runs.

Young Factory Hand Sets New Record for Publinx Golf

SPOKANE, July 16.—(AP)—Jimmy Clark, a stock-room employee in an aircraft factory, won medal honors of the 1941 United States public links championship Tuesday with a 36-hole total of 135.

From his two rounds the 20-year-old Long Beach, Calif. youth claimed two records. His even under par 64 Monday on the hilly Indian Canyon course established a new first round record for U.S.G.A. amateur competition.

His 71 yesterday completed the lowest total ever set for 36-hole qualifying in national amateur play. The old qualifying record was 138.

Second place, four shots behind, went to 18-year-old Bill Korns, University of Utah freshman, with 139.

Scores of 150 and lower qualified for match play rounds starting today.

David Dixon of Vancouver added a 79 to his 71 yesterday and qualified.

Twilight Races Will Be Tried At Pacific Coast

VANCOUVER, July 16—(CP)—Rattle Hocks won the fifth and feature event at Brighouse Park Tuesday after a great stretch battle with Steveston Bill. Ridden by Jockey Bailey, Rattle Hocks was in front all the way but his lead varied from three lengths to a nose at the wire. High Vole was forced to run on the outside and finished third. Rattle Hocks paid $6.25, $3.70 and $3.00.

Highest price of the day was paid by Janisy in the opener which returned $13.95, $8.70 and $7.40 on a $2 parimutuel ticket.

At the close of yesterday's racing officials of Brighouse, Lansdowne and Hastings Parks announced that they were seriously considering introducing "twilight racing" when the Hastings Park meeting opens Saturday. Races would start at 4 p.m. or 5 p.m., allowing businessmen and office workers to catch the last four or five events. Only two or three days a meeting, however, would be set aside for the innovation.

Belair Entries Likely Favorites At Suffolk Downs

BOSTON, July 16.—(AP)—The Belair stud's entry of Fenelon and Foxbrough appears assured of being overloaded with public support today when, with nine rivals, they go to the post for the seventh renewal of the $50,000-added Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk Downs.

Top weight and the favorite's role generally is an unlucky combination in the running of this mile and an eighth event, the richest of the New England stakes.

On their recent form, Fenelon and Foxbrough appear capable of running one-two while carrying 130 and 122 pounds respectively.

Your Chance, this year's Widener hope, appears in an ideal spot to figure in the expected upset while carrying 120 pounds and it is likely that Louis Rufano's Market Wise, which ran second to Our Boots here in the Yankee, will be well regarded with 111-pound impost.

Jockey Injured Hollywood Pileup

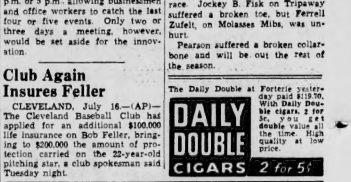

LOS ANGELES, July 16—(AP)—Billy Pearson of Pasadena, Calif., apprentice rider and leading jockey of the Hollywood Park meeting, was injured Tuesday in a three-horse mixup at the start of the third race.

Pearson's mount, Maevic, was killed, and Tripaway, a three-year-old gelding, suffered a leg injury as they collided with Molasses Miss at the start of the seven-furlong race. Jockey B. Fisk on Tripaway suffered a broken toe, but Farrell Zufall, on Molasses Mibs, was unhurt.

Pearson suffered a broken collarbone and will be out the rest of the season.

Brant's Support Wobbles But Winners Really Hitting

Singer's Clothiers blasted out an 18-4 victory over Ducey's Cubs at Renfrew Park on Tuesday night in a regular Junior League Baseball game and as a result took a firmer grip on second place in the loop standing.

Coach Saul Ornest's proteges really put on a clouting exhibition in the latter part of the encounter, after being very much subdued for three innings by the southpaw slants of Charlie Brant, whose effectiveness started to wane as the errors piled up.

Doug. Stevenson led the batting parade of the Singer men with a brace of homers, a double and a single in six trips to the plate and Ken Cox was right in there too with four for six, one being a triple. Billy Maher had three for six.

The Cubs started out well and ran in three counters on hits by Ira Shantz and Gordon Wilson and three errors in the first frame and they added another in the next session when Charlie Brant opened with a single, was advanced by Len Maher's sacrifice and finally completed the circuit on an error.

At this stage things looked rather blue for the Clothiers for they had just one run made in the first on a walk to LaRose, a stolen base and an error and they were not giving Leo Ornest very much support.

BUSINESS BEGINS

They added another counter in the third on a walk and three errors, but when the fourth opened up they began to do business on a more extensive scale, collecting four runs.

Dave LaRose hit safely, stole second and went the whole way on Billy Maher's single. Doug Stevenson then connected for his first round-tripper and Cherney was later driven in by Ken Cox's second clout. The Cubs assisted with an error.

Hits by Johnson and Stevenson, the latter's being a double produced another tally with the assistance of one error in the fifth.

In the fifth a walk, two passed balls, single by Cox, Johnson and Maher and Stevenson's second homer plus another error produced five runs.

SIX SAFE HITS

In the seventh frame six hits, two walks and a pair of bobbles brought in a half-dozen counters. LaRose, Maher, Stevenson, Cherney and Dawe contributed singles and Cox shoved in a triple.

Incidentally Stevenson's second homer rolled to the left field fence and continued its journey outside the park through a hole in the fence.

The Clothiers used three pitchers. Leo Ornest going the first three innings and getting credit for the win. Doug. Darrah then went in and really burned them in for the next three frames.

Doug. struck out nine for the nine outs and only 10 men faced him, one getting to first by being hit. He certainly looked good and hung up a record that will take some beating.

Bill Cherney worked the final inning.

Brant had 10 strike-outs, but was a trifle wild as he walked eight.

Whirlaway Runs Wide At Chicago But Finishes Well

CHICAGO, July 16—(AP)—Warren Wright's Whirlaway, king of the three year olds, turned in an exciting workout for the $65,000 Arlington Classic by romping to victory in a $5,000 special mile and a furlong race before 20,000 at Arlington Park Tuesday.

Racing with three other three year olds, Whirlaway gave his backers a scare when he went wide heading into the stretch turn and lost the lead.

But Jockey Wendell Eads quickly straightened him out and, running down the middle of the track, finished 2½ lengths ahead of Davis Straus' Daily Trouble.

John Marsch's To A Tee was two lengths back in third place.

The time for a mile and a furlong was 1:50 3-5.

Whirlaway picked up $3,250 for his trouble, making a total of $170,161 he has earned this season.

All Star Game May Be Dropped as Headache

IT'S not inconceivable that the All Star baseball game might be dropped. Everybody connected with it considers it a headache. It's a promotional nuisance and a heavy expense to the host club. Magnates and managers are terrified lest accidents happen to their most valuable players. Regular schedules are interrupted for three days. The players get nothing but honor and a minor gift from their leagues. The fund it supports has ample funds to carry on. It wouldn't take much to call it off so far as the baseball leagues go. Advertising value and fan-interest are its sole props at the moment . . . Two of life's major afflictions are a sweating waiter and a hiccoughing caddy . . . A national magazine features a powerful article by Billy Evans "of the Boston Red Sox." What Billy Evans of what Boston Red Sox?

Al Schacht at the All Star game was still bemoaning the fact that he can't dovetail his dates into a smoothly consecutive pattern. "I have to burn too much gas to make any dough," he ululated. "The minors don't want me week-ends, holidays or bank nights. They want me only on the bum ones, usually the first of the week. Last year I took in $29,000 and my expenses were better than $16,000, mostly for gas, oil and tires. If I could string 'em along in succession, I'd make a fortune, but I have too much jumping and back-tracking to do."

FOXX TAKES THE SHADE

IT'S funny how little things hit you big wallops in memorable moments. My principal memory of young Ted Williams sitting on that locker room stool accepting the congratulations and the plaudits of the general constituency after slugging the home run that broke up the big mid-summer carnival, is not of Williams at all, but of Jimmy Foxx's face. Foxx, dressing near Williams, was caught in the general whirlpool, and couldn't escape although nobody was interested in him. That was just the point. He was smiling automatically, while The Kid took all his bows, but it was a reflected smile and not exactly the original article. Of course, he had failed where the Kid came through. In other years and other even more important, because World Series, scenes, the milling throng had been around him. There was nothing grudging in the look, but there was something sad about it just the same. Old age . . . the realization of passing on, maybe, or did I just imagine such things?

Samuel Jackson whaled that agate real elegantly in the Denver P.G.A., apparently well over the back and stomach trouble that had him hogtied at Fort Worth. Nobody can understand why he has trouble with his stomach since he neither smokes nor drinks nor gorges himself. Furthermore he was an all around athlete as a kid, and is, even today, something of a muscular marvel. . . . One of his fellow pros advanced a theory. "The trouble with Sam," this gentleman said, "is that his innards just can't get used to regular meals. He ate only now and then in those West Virginia hills and then mostly sow-belly and black strap molasses. His system just naturally rebels at sissier victuals. He ought to go back to the grub of his raisin'."

LOUIS SHOWS NERVE CONTROL

JOE LOUIS was playing golf when a reporter drove out from Detroit to advise him that his wife had filed suit for divorce. Joe was just walking up on the tee putting the squint on a six-footer when the minion of the press yelled, "Hey, Joe, your wife has just sued you for divorce."

"Just a minute," said the champion, "wait 'til I sink this putt. I got a dollar on it." He sank the putt, wrote down the score, then walked over and said, "What's that you say?"

"Marva's just sued you for a divorce," the reporter repeated.

"Nuts," said Louis, "them stories is all around all the time."

"But she has," insisted the scribe, "she's gone into the court house on you. She says you hit her twice and walked on her ankle once."

"Hit her?" Louis asked incredulously, "what would I want to hit her for? I got all the hittin' I can do against sparring partners. We pay 'em $25 a day just to stand up there and get hit. What for would I ever want to hit her?"

"I don't know," said the knight of the typewriter, "but that's what she says. What are you going to do?"

"Nothing, I guess," said Joe, "if she don't want to be my wife no mo', what can I do? I can't make her."

Then he turned on back to the golf game. Talk about nerve control.

It Never Fails

Priorities In Skilled Trades Is Ottawa Plan

OTTAWA, July 16—(CP)—In a radical move to protect the manpower supply for Canada's wartime industries, the labor department Tuesday was empowered by order-in-council to establish if necessary a system of employment priorities in the skilled trades.

Department officials said the move was a "precautionary measure" and there was no intention of invoking the new powers immediately.

"As a matter of fact," one spokesman said, "We haven't gone into the fine points of the thing. The powers aren't needed yet and we haven't any idea what particular trade might be first affected."

AMENDS PREVIOUS ORDER

The order-in-council amended an order passed last autumn banning "labor poaching" in the field of war production.

That Nov. 6 order provides for fines up to $500 on summary conviction for firms guilty of enticing workers away from other firms engaged in wartime production, but Labor Minister McLarty at that time said it was not intended to "limit the individual rights of the workers."

In event of an acute shortage of skilled workmen in some lines, a spokesman said, the amendment will allow the government to ensure that private industry is not able to hire such workmen when they are needed at the same time in war industry.

The amendments also extended the "no-poaching" provisions to include the civilian employees of the companies engaged in the British Commonwealth air training program.

EMPLOYMENT OFFICES

Preamble to the order-in-council yesterday in an extra edition of The Canada Gazette said the new move was intended "to provide that regulations may be issued to prevent the employment of persons in certain designated skilled and scarce trades except through employment offices in accordance with a system of priorities."

The employment offices, a labor department spokesman said, would be those set up under the unemployment insurance scheme which came into effect July 1. The offices are not yet ready and it will be impossible to put the employment amendments into effect at least until they are, he said.

"When power is taken under the new regulations," he added, "the employment offices will be able to keep all available manpower in war production industries where it is needed."

PENALTIES PROVIDED

The amendment providing for employment priorities reads:

"The minister of labor may, with the concurrence of the unemployment insurance commission, make all such orders or regulations as he deems necessary to achieve the purposes and intentions of this (no-poaching) order; such orders or regulations shall forthwith be published in the Canada Gazette and shall have the force of law, and every person who contravenes or fails to comply with any such orders or regulations shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable to the penalty of the last preceding paragraph."

(The paragraph mentioned is the one providing for fines up to $500 on summary conviction.)

Have You Seen

City police reported Wednesday that Doris Golinsky, 15, has been missing from the clinic at the General hospital since 3:40 p.m. Tuesday. The girl is five feet, three inches tall, weighs 113 pounds and has dark hair and complexion. At the time of her disappearance she was wearing a wine-colored dress.

R.C.M.P. detachment in Edmonton reported Wednesday that Roy Laroche, 14, is missing from his home at Busby, Alta. He was wearing a red shirt, overall trousers and canvas shoes at the time of his disappearance.

Mrs. Handel, 8723 101A avenue, told police Wednesday that her mother, Mrs. Klamentwoski, has been missing from the Handel home since Friday. The missing woman is 59 years of age, five feet, one inch tall, and stout. She was last seen wearing a bright red dress, blue coat and blue felt hat.

Nazis Claim Russ Attacks Are Smashed

BERLIN, July 16—(AP)—The German high command claimed today the German assault on the Stalin line has smashed Red army counter-attacks and is "proceeding favorably."

The high command's two-sentence report on the eastern front again was terse and void of detail: "In the east operations are proceeding favorably. In several places desperate Soviet counter-attacks have been repulsed with bloody losses for the enemy."

One clash, however, was mentioned specifically by D.N.B., German news agency, which claimed Soviet units at Bjelaja, 37 miles east of Pskov, were "wiped out" by German artillery and infantry.

CONCUR ON SCENE

At least as far as locating this battle scene, the German and Russian reports concurred. The Red army communique mentioned a continuing battle in the region of Prkhov, which is about 40 miles east of Pskov.

The Pskov-Prkhov area is about 100 miles southwest of Novgorod, which a German report yesterday claimed was being approached by German troops.

German dive bombers, ranging ahead of troops thrusting in the direction of Moscow, were claimed to be battering the Red army's transport system between Smolensk and the Soviet capital.

The aerial offensive apparently was aimed at preventing the Russians from bringing up reinforcements to stave off mechanized units which were claimed to have cracked the "last defences of the Stalin line" somewhere west of Smolensk which is 225 miles from Moscow.

Dispatches from the front left unanswered questions concerning the progress of the German drive toward Kiev, capital of the Ukraine. A high command announcement last Saturday that Nazi troops were "directly before Kiev" left the German public expecting an announcement of the fall of the city at any hour.

Early today a government spokesman said it would be "premature" to assume Kiev is in German hands.

Colorful Troop Ceremony Is Feature Of Exhibition

Guard Salute Is Taken By Lieutenant-Governor

Ceremonial associated with "Retreat," the bugle call sounded at sundown each day to officially bring to a close army activities, carried out at the military encampment, Exhibition Grounds, Tuesday, was watched by hundreds of spectators. His Honor Lt.-Col. J. C. Bowen, Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, took the salute from the composite guard of honor drawn from the Army, R.C.N.V.R. and R.C.A.F.

The ceremony, colorful and impressive, was performed at 7:30 p.m. and will be repeated each day during the exhibition, at the same hour.

The encampment consists of a marquee dining tent, cook-house tent and six other tents. It is laid out in proper army style, tents being properly arranged, with flagpoles, sentry-paths and other features of a complete unit. Trucks and other motorized equipment for carrying the stores are on hand.

PARADE AT SUNDOWN

All day long the spick and span sentries plied their way up and down their paths. Each man took an hour's turn on sentry-go before being relieved. And all felt that one hour was plenty on Tuesday. The army sentries wore khaki twill uniforms, with "shorts." The navy men wore their white uniforms and the R.C.A.F. khaki twill.

Shortly before sundown the guards representing the detachments paraded in front of the

with JOHN OLIVER

INTENSE heat of the last few days has brought discomfort to many people and this observer has heard complaints from a large number who found it difficult to sleep as a result of the high temperature. There are many favorite antidotes to this condition, with almost everyone having a "sure" remedy. With a view to assisting in easing any discomfort brought on by this perfect example of Alberta summer and sunshine, one or two suggestions are herewith given.

In bed, cool the back of the neck or the wrists with a light-seal jar filled with ice cubes, or with a hot-water bottle containing ice water, or with an ice-cold tin of pineapple or grapefruit juice, or whatever you can find in the refrigerator. There are many other methods of alleviation, but these are a few. Try any one or all.

It seems that in hot weather, noise is more aggravating and annoying to most people than at other times. There is many remedy for removal of most noises in and around the house. A 10-cent can of oil will last for months and it should be used to stop the squeaks on pulleys, baby carriages, kiddie cars, bicycles and door hinges. Removal of these irritating sounds, will make life easier for yourself and others and will preclude fraying of tempers.

* * *

Those who find the heat oppressive—can take comfort in the thought that it will not last long. It never does here. Unfortunately the summer and the hot days are too few. Actually there were not many really warm days up until the end of June. True, most of this month has been torrid. But July is half gone. The days have shortened appreciably. There will be some warm weather this month and some next and then autumn will be here again. The last few days may have been a trifle too hot to engage in a five-set tennis match against a stubborn opponent who does not know when he is licked, but they have been a sweet reminder of Alberta's unsurpassed sunshine. And I doubt if lovelier evenings could be found anywhere.

The cigars are on Ted Wallbridge and his fellow-members of the Royal Trust Company staff, if they haven't already got their quo's, may expect them at any time. Ted is a daddy, the father of a bouncing baby boy. And is he proud? When the stork delivered the son and heir of the Wallbridges, "Pop's" enthusiasm knew no bounds. And wasn't nine-year-old Helen pleased, because now she has a brand new baby brother to play with. Ted says he and his "missus" had a name already picked out in case it was a girl and while they wanted a boy, the name had not been decided. That's a detail, congrats. Ted and Mrs. Ted. Glad to hear both are doing well.

The boys from the city waterworks department have been having quite a time digging up the water-main in the lane between 106 and 107 streets just south of Jasper and for a stretch on 106 street. The other night many residents heard a strange noise in the offing and a large number investigated but returned to their slumbers when they discovered the work crew busily engaged with their various implements. Repairs appear to have been satisfactorily completed.

City Swelters As Heat Hits 92.5 Degrees

Yes, old man weather is really turning on the heat in the Edmonton district. And by the looks of things, there's going to be no letup. Season's record of 86 above went by the boards at 2:20 p.m. Tuesday when a new high of 92.5 above was recorded in the city. Official high for the day was 88 above, recorded at 3:30 p.m.

Forecast for Wednesday and Thursday calls for "continued warm weather." The heat-makers are following that prediction to a "T," as by 8:30 a.m. Wednesday they had pushed the mercury up to 78 degrees, and kept it going up to 92 at 2 p.m. The city's all-time record of 99 above, set on June 29, 1937, may be broken in the present heat wave.

"HOW TO KEEP COOL"

Citizens, in vain or near-vain efforts at cooling off, have been discarding clothing, drinking cold water and iced drinks by the gallon, taking showers and baths, sitting in drafts and following a hundred and one other varied tips on "how to keep cool."

Ice cream and soft drink vendors have been enjoying the season's biggest "boom" in sales, as folks duck into stands for the odd bit of refreshment and "cooling-off." City swimming pools, usually suffering a drop in attendance during fair week, are receiving a big volume of business daily now, as children and adults throng to the water to cool off.

Out at the Exhibition grounds, those who had hoped for good weather are beginning to wonder if this stretch of hot days is not almost too good. Volunteers for the "ice block" stunt, and attendance at the Aquacade show should be the most popular features on the midway these days.

For those who are interested, lowest overnight temperature was 60 above at 4:30 a.m. Wednesday. Average temperature for the day was 72 above, compared with 58 one year ago.

In the near north all points were "clear and calm" Wednesday, except at McMurray where overcast skies were reported.

Radio given away at the Edmonton Exhibition on Tuesday by Sterling Furniture was won by D. Hughes, 8525 89 street.

Thousands See Alberta Goods At City Fair

Approximately 12,000 visitors thronged to the "Made in Alberta" exhibit at the Edmonton Summer fair on Monday and Tuesday and plans are ready at the tent on Concession Row to handle at least 60,000 visitors during the week.

The exhibit, sponsored by the trade and industry branch, government of Alberta, shows samples of the goods made in the province and the trade marks by which these goods are identified.

There are 65 branded lines of goods on display, ranging from knitted goods, suits, biscuits, candy, flour, cereals, jams and marmalades, peanut butter, honey, blankets and many other lines.

The display is in charge of L. Philip Danis, of the provincial marketing board. Generous samples of the goods are given to visitors by demonstrators. The entire exhibit is free and is staged to bring to the attention of the public the many articles manufactured in the province.

Agricultural Information Bureau Maintained At Exhibition Ground

If there is anything you wish to know about your soil or the variety of grain that should be sown on your farm, the information can be obtained at the Dominion government agricultural exhibit located in the Agricultural Building at the Edmonton Exhibition grounds.

Staffs of trained representatives from Ottawa are on hand to give information on almost any phase of Canadian agriculture, and on Farmers' Day they were kept busy as thousands visited the booth.

The booth has an interesting motive and is designed to bring forcibly to the attention of all, the necessity to conserve for future success.

In tableau form it points out that the soil is the nation's heritage, which must be protected by scientific farming methods. In a series of pictures the exhibit shows the method of tree planting which will restore the soil fibre and reproduce moisture reserves.

This can be attained, the exhibit depicts, by grass replanting and the cultivation of coarse grains. This in turn will give fodder for livestock raising and will lead to farms becoming more self-sustaining. The final tableau of the exhibit is a woman busy in her kitchen canning a variety of garden produce and carries the slogan "grow what you can and can what you grow."

"The entire motive of the exhibit," declared F. C. Nunnick, B.S.A., director, publicity and extension department, federal department of agriculture, "is to educate the farmer as to the best type of crops to grow on his land, and how to make farming a more profitable business."

Business Trip

J. W. Butterfield, manager of the C. Woodward Ltd. department store here, left Tuesday night on a business trip to eastern Canadian cities and New York. He was accompanied by Kenneth Campbell of Vancouver, buyer for Woodward's Ltd., the Vancouver store.

An estimated 50,000,000 bushels of wheat and 950,000,000 pounds of butter are consumed annually by Americans in making buttered toast.

Record Crowd At Fair Today Is Predicted

All records for attendance are expected to go by the boards as brilliant sunshine, tempered with a cooling breeze, prevailed for Citizens' Day at the Edmonton Exhibition Association's summer fair Wednesday.

Mayor John W. Fry has proclaimed Wednesday a general civic half-holiday and appealed to all employers to permit their staffs time off Wednesday to attend.

Last year rain played havoc with Citizens' Day attendance, but before the end of the week the loss on the Wednesday had been practically recovered.

Fair officials Wednesday noon predicted the greatest attendance for a Citizens' Day would be achieved with today's favorable weather conditions.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

What do you think of the border clash between Ecuador and Peru?

THE ANSWERS

DONALD DEWAR, Macdonald hotel: Frankly I don't know much about it. But history is replete with incidents, the cause and effect of which are vague. Their importance is often judged by the fact that they are vague and are far away.

* * *

THOMAS ALFRED, returned soldier: Far fields always look green and it looks like a serious event, specially as several countries have offered to mediate. But my own opinion is that it doesn't amount to a row of beans.

FRED PARKMAN, clerk: It seems to me that these well-meaning border troops felt a little out of it, and they just wanted to "make" the news. I can't see any reason for a clash there and it reminds me of the comic opera portrayals of Balkan fights in past years.

* * *

TOM FARWELL, messenger: I don't know the first thing about it. I saw some stories in your paper about it, but I was more interested in what was happening across the Atlantic. Sorry.

Time Drawing Near Deadline Typing Entries

Time is drawing close for the contest which will decide Edmonton's and northern Alberta's fastest typist, to take his or her place on the Canadian team in the International Typewriting Marathon in Toronto at the Canadian National Exhibition.

The eliminations here are sponsored by The Edmonton Bulletin and Alberta College and will be held at Alberta College, on 101 street, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, July 21, 23 and 25.

The winner receives a free trip to Toronto, with all expenses paid and $2.50 a day "spending money."

A $5,000 travel insurance policy also is given the team member. The trip entails a real "good time" at the Canadian National Exhibition and likely, as last year, a few side trips when the contest is over.

DAY-NIGHT MARATHON

At the exhibition the Canadian and United States teams, of 12 members each, enter a day and night marathon, in which each typist works for one hour every 12 hours at a typewriter.

The typists work in 15-minute spells, with 15-minute rests in between, then takes 10 hours off before they come back for their next turn.

The machines get no rest at all as, when a typist finishes her quarter-hour spell, she is rolled away on a chair fitted with casters and the next typist is wheeled into her place.

Edmonton typists will find the elimination contest an interesting experience and the prize is big.

An entry form will be found on page 8.

$362,000 Permits Are Issued For Air Force, School

The two largest building permits of the current year were issued Wednesday by the city building inspector's department.

The largest permit was for construction of a guard house and alterations to present buildings at the exhibition grounds, to cost $300,000, for the R.C.A.F. No. 3 Manning Depot. The work is being done by Poole Construction Co., Ltd.

Permit for $62,000 for construction of a frame gymnasium and a three-storey brick addition to Garneau school, containing a library, office and classrooms, was issued to the Edmonton public school board.

Architects are MacDonald and Magoon and contractor is Fred Allyn.

C.C.F. Urges Conscription Wealth In War

Members of the C.C.F. general membership section, at their annual provincial convention in the I.O.O.F. hall here Wednesday, voted to demand that conscription of wealth, industry and resources be ordered by the government in connection with any conscription of fighting men which might be brought in.

Henry G. Young of Millet, president of the Alberta C.C.F. clubs, is chairman of the two-day conference, which is attended by about 100 delegates.

The resolution which was passed by the convention was worded as follows:

"Your executive is of the opinion that, despite the election promises of the prime minister, an effort will be made to enforce conscription of men without conscription of wealth in the near future. The government may attempt to get the people to sanction conscription of manpower through a referendum without any reference to wealth conscription.

LACK OF EQUIPMENT

Up to this time the reverses suffered by our forces have been due to lack of guns, tanks and planes and not for lack of men. We believe the only efficient manner of obtaining the weapons for our army is through conscription of industry. Therefore unless wealth, industry and resources are also conscripted we shall resist conscription of men for overseas service by every legal means at our disposal. We want to

U.S. Girl Is Pretty Bride Of City Man

BASKETS of blue delphinium, brown-eyed marguerites and dainty baby's breath were used in delicate profusion in the sanctuary of St. Joseph's Cathedral, forming a fragrant floral setting for the early morning marriage on Tuesday of Athelene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Harvey of Los Angeles and Sgt. Pilot John Anthony Heffernan, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Heffernan of Edmonton.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Father W. E. Doyle, who also celebrated the nuptial mass. The wedding marches were played by Mrs. Pepin-Olsen and at the offertory, Miss Pepin sang Gounod's "Ave Maria".

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her prospective father-in-law, was a graceful figure in her white silk toe-length gown of dainty marquisette, delecately embroidered in seed pearls. The closely-fitting bodice was fashioned with a heart-shaped neckline and puff sleeves. The bouffant skirt ended in a graceful train. Over her fair hair she wore a finger-tip veil of frosted tulle, caught to her head with a halo of pearls. Her bouquet was of creamy Johanna Hill roses and white sweet peas.

BRIDESMAID

Dawn pink lace with inserts of net comprised the lovely gown worn by bridesmaid Miss Marie Heffernan, sister of the bridegroom. This was fashioned with tight bodice, short puff sleeves and bouffant skirt. Completing her ensemble she wore silver slippers, a pink lase hat and carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations and blue cornflowers. Mr. George Myres served as best man, while ushering guests to their places was Mr. Norman McIntyre.

Following the ceremony, a reception for the families and immediate friends of the bridal couple was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents. Receiving with them were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harvey of Los Angeles, parents of the bride, and Mrs. Henry J. Doherty, also of Los Angeles, aunt of the bride.

Mrs. Heffernan was gowned in a redingote frock of pink crepe, with which she wore a large pink picture hat and a cluster of violets. Mrs. Harvey chase a frock of beige and green printed French suzette, with which she wore a beige redingote, hat and accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations. Mrs Doherty's ensemble was of poudre blue crepe with navy accessories and a shoulder corsage of pink rosebuds.

AT RECEPTION

Flowers in the drawing room were similar to those in the church, while in the dining room roses and snap-dragons in ivory tones were arranged in crystal vases on the table, which was laid with a lace cloth—a miniature bride and groom rested on the top of the wedding cake.

Pouring coffee was Mrs. Walcott Cashman, while Miss Margaret Shinners and Miss Betty Haire assisted in serving.

To travel, Mrs. Heffernan changed to a tailored suit of brown linen with broad collar of rick rack braid, and accessories of beige.

Sgt. Pilot Heffernan received his wings at Uplands, just last week, and has been appointed an instructor at Trenton, Ontario. Following a short wedding trip, he and his bride will proceed there.

Turner-Watt Nuptials Claim Wide Interest

Home of Mr. and Mrs. William Turner was the setting for a pretty wedding ceremony on Saturday evening, when Isobelle Jessie, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Watt of Ponoka became the bride of William Turner of Regina, Sask., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Turner of Edmonton. Dr. F. D. Roxburgh performed the ceremony.

The bride, who is a graduate of the Royal Alexandra hospital and who took post-graduate work at the Ponoka Mental Institute, looked charming in her graduation gown of filmy white crepe-de-chine. Her chapel veil of starched white net was held in place with a wreath of pink sweet peas. She carried a bouquet of pink and yellow roses.

Miss Verna Bready of Ardrossan, cousin of the bride, was a charming bridesmaid in pale blue chiffon, accented with touches of pink. Her bouquet was of pink and white sweet peas. Mr. Douglas Turner, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Luther Jones sang "I Love You Truly."

Following the ceremony, the young couple left on a wedding trip to Banff and Jasper, the bride changing to a suit in poudre blue with white accessories. They will make their home in Regina.

Sonnysayings

Mr. Hambrow, could you use a couple ob bright young fellers who is in fanatical difficulties an' will work 'til a week from Saturday for fifty cents each?

MISS NORA MILLS

The engagement is announced of Nora Sudron Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mills of Edmonton, to Orval William Maxwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Maxwell, also of the city. Miss Mills is well-known in Little Theatre circles in the city. Mr. Maxwell is a graduate of the University of Alberta with his B.Sc. degree. Since his graduation in 1939 he has been in defence work for the Canadian government at Winnipeg. The wedding will take place on August 1 in Winnipeg. Miss Mills will be accompanied to Winnipeg by her sister, Miss Betty Mills.

Handiwork Of Patients Is Shown At Fair

Men and women of Edmonton and district, interested in beautiful handwork, carpentry, leathercraft, embroidery, crocheting and the like should make a point of visiting the ground floor of the women's building some time during the remainder of exhibition week to see the exhibits from the different mental hospitals at Ponoka, Oliver, Red Deer, Claresholm and Raymond.

Beautiful indeed is the work done by the patients at the different hospitals, but the real wonder of the work lies in its ability to help the patient. To understand the real significance of the handcraft one must realize the purposes to which hand work is put.

In a mental hospital occupational therapy is one of the greatest psychological studies there is. To determine what kind of work will best help the sick, be it embroidery, knitting, wood work, crocheting, to work out what colors will have the best effect, all this is the work of the occupational therapist.

On display in the women's building are a variety of the best pieces made at the hospitals.

From the hospital at Ponoka this year Miss Chrysler and Miss Bier, the occupational therapists, have brought some of the best pieces with them. There is a beautiful work settee gay with colorful chintz complete with its own lamp; there is an attractive leather purse in rust color with colored staining; there are some beautiful pieces of weaving done on hand looms and of course there is embroidery and crochetting in abundance.

FOR BAZAAR

In former years it was the custom to sell the goods from the Ponoka hospital at the women's building. For the last few years, however, the hospital has arranged a bazaar at Ponoka in the autumn months. The money is used to buy materials to continue the work and to finance parties and recreations for the patients.

Work from the Oliver hospital is composed completely of the various types of woodwork, inlay, sandwich, wicker and modelling in boxwood. Cunning toys of all descriptions proved a drawing card to the display, and Monday and Tuesday the internes from the hospital did a roaring business as children and parents alike patronized the shop.

Edmonton citizens will be interested to see the intricate work on display in the show cases from the hospital for the mentally backward at Red Deer. There, too, occupational therapy is part of the extensive plan for cure.

To understand the purpose and the achievement that work from the mental hospitals represents is to appreciate even more the beautiful, intricate work on display.

Navy Mothers Club Members Have Booth At Fair Grounds

Ship ahoy! The navy's here! No, not really, but mothers of the navy boys are certainly here, and very active too. Wandering in the cool of the manufacturers building, on Tuesday afternoon, we were pleasantly surprised to stumble on a little tea booth operated by the Navy Mothers' Club of Edmonton. Here knitting and other articles made for the boys in blue are on display, and here, too, the weary exhibitioner may enjoy a refreshing cup of tea and chat with these fine women.

General conveners of the booth are Mrs. R. M. Shaver, president of the club, and Mrs. T. W. Bayer. Hostesses during the week are: Monday, Mrs. S. Bryant, Mrs. J. Dobbie, Mrs. J. M. Taylor, Mrs. J. Tuesday Races Draw Many To Fair Grounds

MECCA for society sportsmen and women, the grandstand and enclosure of the Edmonton Exhibition was crowded to capacity on Tuesday afternoon. Gay summer print frocks worn by the sportswomen, and the many uniforms of officers and men attending loaned a bright tone to the gathering, and the colors waved and danced through the constantly moving throng.

It was Farmers' day, and a few city folk felt "farmerish" in a depressed sort of way, as they "bought hay," but the general gayety of the crowd was evidence that many a person had better luck and came away a winner, looking "cool and collecting".

Wife of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Mrs. J. C. Bowen, attended, wearing a soft blue dress, with a contrasting wide-brimmed hat of navy blue. Her guests included her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Bowen, who chose a poppy red sports dress; Mrs. Allan Gillies, who wore a blue and white print frock, with a wide-brimmed navy and white hat; and Mrs. J. Boyd McBride, charming in a navy redingote ensemble, trimmed with red and white and with a matching hat. Captain Gillies attended them.

Seated in a nearby box were Mr. and Mrs. John Michaels, and their daughter, Miss Audrey Michaels. Mrs. Michaels wore a trim white suit with a matching hat, and Miss Audrey wore a navy and white print dress, with a modish white hat.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Macallister, who came to the city recently, to reside here, were among those noticed in the grandstand, as were Captain and Mrs. Harry Coles.

Wending their way to the paddock, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Williams were seen chatting with friends. Mrs. Williams wore a striped linen dress in tones of navy and white. Others noticed looking over the horses were Captain and Mrs. G. V. H. Rocke. Mrs. Rocke is the former Miss Violet Chamberlain. Mrs. E. Newlands, wearing a print dress of mulberry and white, was also on hand to check the horses.

Walker Blake leaning over the rail, told friends he was having just as much fun following the races as were Mrs. Blake and their small daughter, Paula Jane, who were enjoying the rides on the midway.

Mrs. C. W. Dacre, in blue and white silk, Miss Sybil Primrose in beige, and Mrs. R. J. Dinning in a white linen suit with dark brown blouse were observed checking the program.

Walking through the enclosure were seen Mrs. Daniel Radford in a green striped frock with leghorn hat and white accessories; Mrs. Herbert McPherson in a Churchill blue sports ensemble, Mrs. James Rennie and Mrs. Donald Menzies, and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Lancaster, Mrs. Lancaster wore a cinnamon brown and white print dress.

Mrs. Rose Seigman looked cool and collected as she made her bet. She wore a light summer frock, with a contrasting black hat, with ribbon striped brim.

Mrs. W. Leigh Brintnell wore a blue and white print dress with a wide-brimmed white straw hat. She was seen chatting with Mrs. Harold Lowe and other friends.

Leaving the paddock, Mrs. Graham Huckle was seen checking her race program, as were Cathie Marshall, Sophie Mighall and Mrs. John Clark, who were planning some three-way betting.

Watching the horses dash to the winning post were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dewhurst, Mrs. Dewhurst wearing a blue and white print dress with leghorn hat.

Mrs. Errol Wright, wearing a white skirt sports frock with rose jacket and white turban, was seen entering the gate.

St. James Cathedral, Peace River, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Wednesday, July 9, when the marriage of Kathleen Porter, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Porter, to Richard H. Hancock, son of Mr. Sidney Hancock of Wabamun, took place. Mr. and Mrs. Stephens of Fort Vermilion attended the couple and the service was performed by Rev. Smith. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hancock left by plane for North Vermilion, where they will make their home.

Mrs. Sam Kennedy has returned to the city after visiting in Montreal and in Glengarry County, Ontario. En route east she was accompanied by her son, Mr. Lloyd W. Kennedy, who has gone on to Trinidad, British West Indies, where he has accepted a position as a chemical engineer with the Trinidad Leaseholds Ltd. He is a graduate of the University of Alberta.

Of interest to many friends in Edmonton is the marriage ceremony performed in Hillcrest on Saturday of Alice (Peggy) Crichton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crichton of Hillcrest and Mr. Arthur William Chrysler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar L. Chrysler of Calgary. Edmontonians attending the ceremony included Mrs. W. M. Kerr, sister of the bride, Mrs. Fennell and the Misses Kathleen and Doris Fennell and Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers and son James. Mr. and Mrs. Chrysler will take up residence in Edmonton, following a short wedding trip.

Merry Fun At The Fair Go-Round

And then, of course, there were the barkers, from the flat voiced tones of "you'll be thrilled but not disappointed when you see Peggy, the hairless horse"—to "come on, come on . . gals in blue get hungry too." We were, and hot and thirsty to boot. Which reminds us of our long search for a drinking fountain and our finally finding one outside the Manufacturers' building . . . with a lineup of about 75 youngsters and oldsters who appeared every bit as hot and thirsty as we.

The gracious hand of hospitality was extended to well over fifty tired Edmonton women on Tuesday, when they stopped for a refreshing cup of tea, and a much needed rest on the shady verandah of the Women's building, where the Edmonton branch of the Women's Institute continued their eight-year-old practice of serving tea to weary fair visitors. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. W. Wood, president and for the past five years convener of the tea room, Mrs. J. W. Johnston, Mrs. W. F. H. Brown, Miss Mary Johnson and Miss June Thompson.

Eight tiny babies, the youngest but four weeks old, were visitors at the exhibition on Tuesday. They did not visit the noisy midway, listen to the call of the barkers, or thrill to the races . . . in fact, they were quite passive about the whole business. To them, the exhibition meant a few conented hours spent in the sunny nursery at the Baby Clinic, under the watchful and mothering eye of Mrs. C. Engley and her assistants.

NOT quite so bright was the young hopeful, who played her own hunches instead of tips given her by the experts. When the day's races were over, we looked at her program, and found the winner in each race was ticked off. It seems that the tips have been given her with perfect accuracy, but contrariwise, she had followed her own feminine fancy.

At eight years the wisdom of the years has not appeared and a spoiled candy-apple is plenty of justification for a good cry . . . but even your reporter would have been inclined to cry if she had been in the same predicament as a tiny child trying vainly to gobble down a candy-apple off which she candy was very surely running. It is disappointing, to say the least.

PITY THE ICE-MAN!

During exhibition week especially when the termometer soars to above 92 degrees there is one man everybody appreciates, even Frigidaire enthusiasts and that is the iceman. Out at the fair grounds on Tuesday in the blistering heat the iceman worked harder perhaps than anyone else and strange as it may seem appeared hotter than most of the rest of exhibition patrons.

MRS. W. LEIGH BRINTNELL, looking very cool and summery in her blue and white checked summer sports frock, smart white hat and accessories to match, decorated Epernay, the winning horse in Tuesday's feature race at the Exhibition. We saw the little Mexican girl who gave such a dazzling performance as a dancer and acrobat on the grandstand attraction in the evening, just before that particular race. She was strolling down the enclosure to place a bet. "It's my first bet," she told a passing friend, "and I'm putting in on Epernay, right on ze noze!"

There is nothing new under the sun. In this modern age we are apt to think that apple-growing in Alberta is definitely a practice of the last five or ten years. But we're wrong. Chatting with Mr. John S. Fraser, one of Edmonton's best known old timers, on Tuesday afternoon at the Old Timers' Cabin, we happened to admire the crooked cane he was carrying. "Oh, yes," he said, quite nonchalantly, "it was made from an old apple tree growing in my yard in Edmonton, forty years ago!"

• • •

Hope springs eternal! We chatted with three young girls who followed the ponies in Calgary at the Stampede and managed to clear something like one dollar each. In Edmonton, they are at it again, hoping for nothing better than to break even. The fates should be kind for they are charming girls. Also, they appear to have a system that works now and then.

Exhibition Week Draws Many Visitors From Far And Near

MRS. WILLIAM ABERHART, wife of Hon. Premier Aberhart, and Mrs. W. A. Fallow, wife of Hon. Mr. Fallow, minister of public works in the provincial government, called at the Old Timers' Cabin on Tuesday afternoon. Present to receive them were Mr. A. J. Miss McLure, Dr. R. Zender Are Married

Ceremony Is Performed At Peace River On Wednesday

PEACE RIVER, July 16—Against a background of fragrant white peonies and tall spikes of royal blue delphinium and green fern, Audrey Irene McLure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McLure of Peace River, pledged wedding vows with Dr. Robert Joseph Zender of Edmonton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zender of Edmonton. The pretty ceremony took place at Peace River on Wednesday at the afternoon hour of two o'clock. Rev. I. M. McDonald officiated.

Both the bride and the bridegroom are well known in Edmonton where the wedding occasioned great interest in University of Alberta, nursing and social circles. The bride is a graduate of the University hospital school of nursing and Dr. Zender is a graduate of the University of Alberta with his medical doctor's degree. He is a member of Delta Upsilon men's university fraternity.

WHITE SHEER FROCK

For her wedding the bride chose a toe-length frock of white sheer fashioned with a shirred bodice and a bouffant skirt. A tiny sheer bolero of delicate cut-work completed the gown. To complete the bridal ensemble, the bride wore a white net chapel veil and elbow length white lace mittens. On her arm she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Inez Norem of Edmonton the bride's only attendant, wore an ocean blue frock of embroidered net over taffeta with matching bolero jacket. Her flowers were pink sweet peas in a shower bouquet.

Wedding music for the ceremony was played on the organ by Mrs. B. Jackson and Miss Cathryn Zender, sister of the bridegroom, sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

Supporting the bridegroom as best man was Mr. Leverne McLure, brother of the bride.

Following the wedding ceremony Mr. and Mrs. McLure entertained 30 guests at a buffet luncheon at their home. To receive Mrs. McLure chose an aqua blue floral sheer frock and at her shoulder, she wore a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a sheer frock of dusky rose with a shoulder corsage of pink roses.

For the affair the home was decorated with peonies and sweep pea blossoms. In the dining room the table was centred with the three-tiered wedding cake.

HONEYMOON

Dr. and Mrs. Zender left, following the reception, for a honeymoon to Jasper, Banff and southern Alberta. For travelling the bride changed into a frock of rose sheer in redingote style and with white accessories. Returning from their trip at the end of July, the couple will make their home in Garneau.

Among the guests that journeyed to Peace River for the wedding were Mrs. T. J. Zender, Miss Cathryn Zender, Miss Inez Norem, and Miss Enid Lofts of Edmonton and Mr. and Mrs. Norem of Berwyn, Alberta.

Colorful Days Of Early West Are Recalled As Old-Timers Gather At Their Cabin On Tuesday

HOME and meeting place for members of the Northern Alberta Old Timers' and Pioneers' Association since 1926, when logs for the cabin were peeled by members themselves, when pictures, relics and records of the early days in Edmonton and in the west were collected from home and attic and stored within its solid walls, the Old Timers' Cabin at the Fair Grounds re-echoed the charm and hospitality of former days, when on Tuesday, the second day of the Exhibition, upwards of 300 people were entertained within its walls.

It was "Farmers' Day" at the Exhibition, and many a family came from many miles to pay their annual call to the Old Timers' Cabin.

Finding a welcome relief from the heat of the day within the cool walls of the cabin and on the spacious verandahs, many an old timer, his children and children's children, called during the afternoon hours to gossip with friends of former days and to mark the changes wrought in the district since their coming.

HELPED TO BUILD

Once their eyes scanned the prairie and river valley where Edmonton now stands and found no streets, buildings and no city to obstruct their view. Now they are proud of the fine city and flourishing country which they helped to build.

That they were undismayed by the prospect of loneliness before each comer forty, fifty or sixty years ago, is evident from the fact that they stayed, built their homes and established their families here. In their love of the Canadian west and of their desire to build a permanent home for their children, the old timers who were "newcomers" then, stayed, envisioning the city which the passing years has brought to realization.

EARLY DAYS RECALLED

Many were the stories that passed from lip to lip on Tuesday afternoon as the west of the early days was recalled. Old timers, their heads silvered with the passing of the years, but their eyes and hearts forever young, greeted each other once more and once more recalled past events with the familiar "Do you remember when . . .?"

"I'll be sixty-one years in the west in August," said Mrs. H. G. Wingfield as she spoke to her neighbor, an old timer, too, who couldn't quite equal her record. Through the room fragments of conversation were audible. . . . Mr. George Thomson welcoming a visitor from out-of-town and inviting him to sign the guest book. . . . Col. W. F. W. Carstairs being congratulated on his 82nd birthday. . . . Mr. John S. Fraser reaffirming his intention not to lose his Scotch accent after forty-six years in the country. . . . Mr. A. J. Ottewell president of the association, greeting newcomers.

Mrs. William Aberhart wife of the premier of the province and Mrs. W. A. Fallow, wife of Hon. Mr. Fallow, were among the callers during the afternoon.

Mrs. George Ball of Salisbury, Mrs. George Fraser of Bremner, Mrs. Angus Mathieson of Ardrossan, Mrs. John S. Fraser and Mrs. Thomas Dean of Edmonton and Mrs. George Cookson of Tofield poured tea.

Daisies, blue lichen and baby's breath centred the long tea table in the dining room where guests were served.

Among those who signed the guest book on Tuesday were Mr. James W. Haydon, of Lacombe, Mr. C. Turgeon, Mrs. A. W. Matheson of Ardrossan, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Fraser of Bremner, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Hanlan, Mr J. J. McKenzie, Mrs. Etta McLeod, Mr. A. J. Ottewell of Clover Bar, Mr. Colin Beals, Mr. R. Hockley, Mr. George J. Welbourn.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Cookson of Tofield, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hayward, Mr. Chris Creamer of Vancouver, Mr. H. B. Horton of Strathcona, Mrs. Z. L. Hanlan of Ardrossan, Mrs. R. Sutherland, Mr. R. Turnbull, Mr. Clyde Gilmour, Mrs. G. R. Ball, Mr. G. Mart, Mr. and Mrs. George Caldwell, Mr. Arthur Crickson of Tofield, Mrs. J. J. Bell.

Dorothy Dix Says:

When Robert Louis Stevenson announced that the world was so full of a number of things that we all should be as happy as kings, he uttered a great truth. But he might with equal truth have said that the world is so full of such a number of petty irritations that offset our good things that they sour our naturally sweet tempers and turn the milk of human kindness in us into clabber.

Dorothy Dix

All of us are victims of these flea bites that keep us scratching and grouchy and that poison the whole of existence for us, but, strangely enough, we do nothing to cure our troubles, although we know that we could end them with a few well chosen words, and that we would do it if we had an inch of backbone and the initiative and courage of a scared rabbit.

Consider these afflictions under which we groan and moan for a lifetime, but which we never even think of side-stepping. First, and most grievous, I put the weekly family dinner, which is just as binding on all the married children of a family as would be the law of the Medes and the Persians.

Nobody on earth is enough of a prophet to know whether it will be convenient to have a dinner party every Tuesday night for 30 or 40 years, and certainly anybody with common sense knows that you can't be thrilled with excitement over meeting your family two nights a week for dinner, and talking over the same subjects. And why shouldn't daughters-in-law make their devotions to their in-laws an occasion to be enjoyed instead of a duty to be dreaded?

Next, why do we go on living, year after year, with people who are antagonistic to us, who get on our nerves and rub our fur the wrong way, when there are millions of boarding houses and old people's homes in which they would be far happier than they are with us? Maybe we have to stand unpleasant husbands and wives, but, believe me, the family pests would mend their manners if they knew they were about to be fired for being disagreeable.

Then, why do we endure the affliction of the self-invited guest? When Cousin Agatha writes that she is coming for a nice long visit and is bringing little Jimmy with her, why haven't we enough intestinal fortitude to telegraph her at once that we don't want her and to please stay at home?

Why are we weaklings that we let borrowers prey on us? One good strong refusal to be held up would end that form of petty larceny, and if we made the sneak thieves mad, all the better.

Surely we could do a lot to reform daily life if only we had the nerve to do it. DOROTHY DIX.

Hand-Woven Place Mats, Lovely and Quickly Made

"Loom," a Cardboard Square

A summery table setting with cool blue place mats—the smartest kind—woven by you!

Using crochet cotton you weave, one at a time, 6 light and 6 darker blue squares. Then you join squares as sketch shows.

To start: glue together two 5-inch squares of heavy cardboard for your "loom" and draw on it a 4-inch square. In each inch of the square's outline drive six No. 19 wire brads. Next begin warping—setting up the

Your Figure, Madame!

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Which would you rather be—well-fed, or well dressed? Without exception, nine young women who were asked that question by an inquiring reporter declared that they would prefer to be in the height of fashion.

As one of them succinctly put it: If she were well dressed, she could be well fed. Another went so far as to say she would rather be beautifully dressed from tip to toes, even though she was so hungry she couldn't stand up. There seems to be no doubt that fashion means more than food to some of you.

But a working gal must eat. To be efficient and get ahead and be able to buy more clothes, she must eat the right foods. And the less money she has to spend, the more carefully she must budget for her three meals a day. That makes it essential that she have a casual acquaintance with nutrition. She must buy the most protection for the least money.

Since most business girs are not anxious to take on extra pounds, it is fairly easy to weed out the foods which furnish more calories than anything else and choose the ones which contribute the vital elements. Once you get the knack, you won't think twice before making the right choice.

Let's start with breakfast—that is the meal the business girl is apt to slight. You can get a pretty good breakfast over the counter for a quarter, and for a bit less when you prepare it yourself. You need a fresh fruit or juice, not occasionally but every morning. You need an egg each day as it may as well be at breakfast, with whole wheat or enriched toast, and with coffee for an extra-energy. Or, you can choose the combination of fruit, whole grain cereal and coffee. Just be sure you get whole grain cereal or toast, or the enriched variety. That's so your menus won't be lacking in Vitamin B1, which is the vitamin needed for a smoothly functioning nervous system.

Lunch is too often a quick sandwich and a soda, with a few bats tried on for dessert. That is inadequate. Your best bet is to order a 30 or 35 cent luncheon, which is cheaper than a la carte, take buttermilk for the beverage and fruit for the dessert. If the fruit substitution is refused and you're trying to cut calories, skip dessert. Again, make sure you get whole wheat or enriched bread.

Dinner must furnish lean meat, two vegetables, a salad, milk again for the beverage, fruit for dessert, and whole grain or enriched bread.

Health is your stock in trade and it depends on your following good menus. You can't afford to follow a hit-or-miss plan of eating. If you do, your looks and career suffer.

Most working girls get their exercise, and here is one that will prevent a stenographer's spread. Hold on to the door, flex the opposite knee and pull hard toward the chest. Rise on toes to get extra stretch. Relax and repeat.

Give Old Salads New Twist—Eat Them Often

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

According to our best nutritionists, Canadians would have more stamina and fewer minor ills and enjoy life more, if they ate 100 per cent more fruits and vegetables. Let's use hot weather as an inspiration to get more fresh seasonal fruit and garden vegetables into our home menus.

That old favorite, Waldorf salad, retains its familarity and gains new flavor with the addition of juicy orange sections.

ORANGE WALDORF SALAD
(Serves 6-8)

Three cups unpeeled, red-skinned apple, sliced, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, sugar, 2 cups orange sections, ¾ cup diced celery, 1-3 cup chopped walnut meats, ¾ cup lemon mayonnaise.

Sprinkle apple with lemon juice and a little sugar. Combine with other ingredients.

HONEYDEW RING FRUIT SALAD

One honeydew melon, lettuce, 1 cantaloupe, ¼ pound red cherries, ¼ pound white grapes, 2 oranges, ½ cup French dressing, few sprigs of mint, if desired.

Peel honeydew, slice in 1-inch rings, remove seeds and place on bed of lettuce. Scoop out cantaloupe with melon ball cutter, pit cherries, skin and seed grapes. Mix fruits together and fill honeydew rings. Section oranges and lay around ring. Dress with French dressing and garnish with mint. Lettuce and salad dressing may be omitted and the fruit plate served as dessert.

LEAF LETTUCE, COUNTRY STYLE
(Serves 4 to 6)

One large head garden lettuce, 4 or 5 slices bacon, ½ cup vinegar, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper.

Wash and dry the lettuce and tear it into pieces. Dice the bacon and cook it in a frying pan until it is crisp and brown. Add the vinegar and seasonings and bring to the boiling point. Add the lettuce and toss in the hot vinegar until it has wilted. Serve immediately.

Tomorrow's Menu

Breakfast—Sliced bananas, cracked-wheat cereal, toast, coffee, milk.

Luncheon—Cream of potato soup, crackers, orange Waldorf salad, lemon mayonnaise, hard rolls, cheese, tea, milk.

Dinner — Braised pork chops, creamed potatoes, wax beans, leaf lettuce country style, rhubarb tapioca, coffee, milk.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The telephone tinkled and Mother said, "Oh, yes, of course, Bobby can come down to play," and as she hung up the phone she relayed the message to Bobby with that lilt in her voice which she used when she wanted to put something over on him.

"Ned wants you to play with him this morning—and bring your wagon along."

Bobby's face grew long. "I don't wanna go."

"Of course, you do," his mother said in her best executive manner. "Mrs. Bigger asked you and you'll have a nice time. Wash your face and run along. You can stay until I call you." So 3-year-old Bobby hesitatingly plopped at his face, pulled his wagon out from the garage, and trudged down the street, reluctance in every step.

Ned was the only boy of his age in the neighborhood, but he and Ned did not hit it off well. Ned had been used to playing with older boys who browbeat him unmercifully, and he lost no opportunity to browbeat the smaller Bobby in a spirit of poetic justice, as it were.

Fifteen minutes later Bobby was home again, a huge, dirt streak on his face and his hair filled with sand.

"Why, Dear," his mother said, acting surprised, though she wasn't, "what happened?"

"I don't like Ned". Bobby said tersely. "I didn't want to stay so I came home."

He went out in the back yard and climbed up on his trapeze and began to swing by his legs, perfectly happy and contented.

His mother can dictate the companionship of two children. Bobby knew even better than his mother that there was no fun playing with Ned.

And while Ned wanted companionship, he hadn't yet learned that he had to pay a price for it. It would cost him some self-control to keep Bobby there. He couldn't, as he seemed to want to do, bully Bobby as he had been bullied himself.

There are some children who want companionship badly enough to take the unpleasant with the pleasant. Independent Bobby would have none of it.

It is probably as good a lesson as Ned is likely to get to discover that he can't have his Bobby and bully him, too.

My leaflet, "Children's Quarrels," is available to you on request. Simply write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a three-cent-stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the leaflet.

Points For Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

Father: "It is as important to be a good listener as it is to be able to talk well. Let's each one tell a short story and the others practice being good listeners."

Father: "If you want to be a success, you must learn to speak up. Take command of the conversation and keep it by the other fellow will get ahead of you."

Home is the place to teach children to listen courteously as well as talk interestingly.

What To Do

I am often asked to play bridge, although I do not enjoy the game. I only play under protest and realize I don't play well. Is it necessary for me to apologize for my game when so involved?

Answer—Merely mention the fact that you are not a good player—tell your fellow players you'll do the best you can, and then play. After you have accepted an invitation to a game, don't grumble and make excuses for your lack of skill. Never get into an argument over a play. If someone accuses you of a misplay, don't argue with him. Don't talk unduly during the game and don't fuss or drum your fingers on the table. If you can't sit quietly and make a pretense of enjoying yourself, don't accept the invitation in the first place and ruin everyone's evening.

FIVE-LETTER WORD SQUARES

Fill in the blanks in each diagram so as to make five-letter words that read the same both horizontally and vertically, like the words AMBLE and ETHER already in place. Although no definitions are given, you can make fairly accurate guesses about the required letters by observing the positions of vowels and consonants in the border-words that are printed in.

All the words are familiar dictionary-words in common usage; there are no proper names nor slang words in the solution. These diagrams are two separate puzzles, grouped together because of the similarity of the border-words. Answer tomorrow.

Enlistments Here Boosted To 1,254 Men

With 21 more men medically boarded at the Prince of Wales Armory, Tuesday, enlistments at the Edmonton Garrison since the special recruiting drive opened here June 4 total 1,254, according to Lt.-Col. Allan H. Elliott officer commanding No. 13A District Depot.

It is expected that announcement of the final figures of the special drive for 32,000 men, will be made in the immediate future. The drive officially closed last Saturday, but until the names of all men appear in Part 2 orders, they are not officially "in the army."

Information from Ottawa is that the full quota of 32,000 men was reached, and in Alberta it is felt that between 90 and 100 per cent of the quota was obtained.

18TH QUOTA

In the meantime, recruiting has been opened for the 18th quota since the outbreak of war. This is a new group and although tradesmen are specially sought, lack of this qualification need not be a bar to enlistment, as army training schools will provide such training. Physically fit men are urged not to hold back because they are not of technical trades.

Although recruiting for the quota opened only last Saturday, Maj. J. Howard Gainor, M.C., district recruiting officer announced Tuesday that 410 of the 18th being sought already have been attested. This leaves 97 men to be obtained. The quota is expected to be filled by July 23 and at the rate the men have been enlisted, the objective should be attained by that date.

CLASSIFICATION

So far men have been enlisted in this quota, as follows: Medical artillery, 5; medium artillery, 13; antitank, 15; anti-aircraft 46; R.C.E., 58; Signals 11; Calgary Highlanders, 35; Edmonton Regiment, 38; Armored Corps, 20; tank battalion, 22; armored regimental, 8; armored car, 9; army service corps, 77; medical corps, 7; ordnance, 28.

Maj. Gainor expressed pleasure and satisfaction at the response so far and said that men in all the above-mentioned branches are required.

There are opportunities for young men in the air force branch, which is also seeking men.

Case Adjourned On Share Selling Milk Distributor

Case of F. Weigalt, 11441 89 street, charged with selling milk without the operator's license issued by the public utilities commission, was adjourned to July 22 for decision, in city police court Tuesday afternoon.

It is alleged that Weigalt sold shares in his two Jersey cows to 50 Edmonton people at $5 a share. He then charged them $1 a week for the upkeep of the cows, for which each shareholder was supplied with two or three quarts of milk per day. If there wasn't enough milk to go round, some of the shareholders "just did without," Weigalt said.

D. D. Grant and James Neale of the public utilities commission told the court that when they charged him with selling milk accused admitted he had no license.

Three persons who admitted holding $5 shares in the system, showed the court receipts given them by Mr. Weigalt.

Watch Snatched At Fair Grounds

First crime reported in connection with the Edmonton Exhibition this week, took the form of a robbery. Mrs. James Mitchell, 9811 Jasper Street told city police that she was walking across the midway at about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday when two boys, roughly dressed and wearing dark trousers seized her and stole her wrist watch.

Frank Symons, 8723 111 avenue, caught one of the boys believed to have been implicated. Questioned by detectives later, he denied all knowledge of the incident.

Woman Injured

Injured when she fell from a stool at the Bus Depot lunch counter early Wednesday, Mrs. Kathryn Searle, 78, of Saskatoon, was removed to the Royal Alexandra hospital by Smith's ambulance, suffering from a fractured hip. Mrs. Searle is in the city to visit a daughter.

Service Units Give Colorful Army Ceremony

square suitably laid out as a parade ground.

His Honor and party arrived and the hundreds of spectators stood bare-headed and to attention, while the military band from the Infantry Training Centre, Currie Barracks, Calgary, played God Save the King. Then His Honor inspected the guards of the three branches of the service.

LIEUT.-GOVERNOR ATTENDS

With His Honor were Lieut.-Col. R. Walter Hale, M.C., officer commanding the 2nd Battalion, Edmonton Regiment, (R), CA; Lieut.-Col. H. B. Jamieson, officer commanding 2nd Battalion, Edmonton Fusiliers, M.G., (R), CA; Major J. Howard Gainor, M.C., district recruiting officer, M.D. No. 13; Capt. Allan Gillies, secretary to His Honor; Lieut. Francis Neale, D.C.M., A.D.C.; Lieut. C. S. Glassco, officer commanding the Edmonton depot of the R.C.N.V.R.; Flt.-Lt. Harry E. Jones, representing the R.C.A.F.; Nursing Sister Margaret Thompson, representing the Nursing Service; C. E. Willson, president, Edmonton Exhibition Association, Percy W. Abbott, K.C., managing director.

As His Honor entered the encampment he was met and welcomed by Lieut. J. M. Kerr, Lord Strathcona's Horse, officer commanding the camp. Following the inspection of the guard, buglers of the 2nd Battalion, Edmonton Fusiliers, sounded retreat.

FLAGS ARE LOWERED

Flags of the three branches of the armed forces were lowered and taken down. The whole assemblage stood rigid as the notes of Retreat sounded and His Honor took the salute.

This ceremony concluded, the guards were put through formalities leading to their falling out and the posting of new sentries.

Then His Honor and party inspected the encampment. They visited the dining marquee and cook house and the living quarters.

His Honor spoke briefly over the loud-speaker system. He told of his pleasure at visiting the camp and meeting the soldiers. He was impressed with their soldierly bearing and evidences of excellent training. He felt sure that when, later, they were called upon to perform duties in a wider and larger sphere, they would acquit themselves most creditably.

Mr. Willson also spoke briefly over the speaker system, likewise telling of his pleasure at being present.

Lt.-Col. Jamieson was at the microphone of the loud speaker system during the ceremony and described the various details.

The military band was conducted by Sgt. Harry Kirk.

PREMIER PRESENT TONIGHT

The Fusiliers buglers who played Retreat, under the direction of Drum Sgt. David Collister, were L-Cpl. K. Parsons, Eddie Roux, G. Williams, B. Josey and G. Cashman.

The Army guard, trained under Camp N.C.O., Sgt. A. J. Anderson, S.A.R., attached to Currie Barracks, consisted of Cpl. William Graham, Plts. A. C. "Mickey" McKay, L. F. Holmes, D. Stevens, R. G. Gooch, Ray Swawbrick, R. Matthews.

The R.C.N.V.R. guard consisted of First Class Stoker Chrimes and Ordinary Seamen H. Edge, H. Figg, George Allin, L. Letain and A. L. Nolt.

The R.C.A.F. guard, under Cpl. W. J. Murray, consisted of Aircraftsmen Cossentine, Penner, Cook, McGowan, Latimer and Chapman.

On Wednesday night the salute will be taken by Premier William Aberhart, with Retreat being sounded at 7.30 p.m. With the Premier will be the representatives of the armed services present on Tuesday. Measures Against Sawfly Explained Effective lightning warfare can now be waged on wheat stem sawflies, according to provincial agricultural department officials. The sawflies hatch between June 15 and July 15 and as the latter date now has been reached, total war can be waged.

Sawfly larvae can be detected by "sawdust" in the stems, just below the head. Sawflies, which are poor fliers, usually are found on the margins of crops, officials stated.

One provincial official stated that "infested margins should be mowed shortly after July 15. In this way, the larvae is trapped in the stem and destroyed. The crop is saved for feed and next year's crop is protected. Infested stubble should be shallow-cultivated, so that stubs will be rotted by weather. Burning stubble is ineffective, as grubs are found below the groundline."

"CALLING ALL CARS"

Save Gasoline

A NATIONAL EMERGENCY

Canada is right up against an acute shortage of gasoline and fuel oil. Tankers that normally supply our country have been commandeered for vitally important overseas service.

The Commonwealth Air Training Plan, the rapid development of Canada's mechanized army units and the great work carried on by our corvettes make the demand for fuel urgent.

Our crude oil intake is limited. There is just one thing to do if our fighting forces are to carry on with a "full tank". Every Canadian motorist is asked to cut his daily gas consumption in half!

There are many ways by which this 50% saving can be made . . . ways and means to give you more mileage per gallon. You can drive slower so that you will use less gasoline. You can go fifty-fifty with your neighbours, inviting each other to share cars . . . for business, and for pleasure. People can readily go to and from work together, using one car instead of four . . . using one gallon of gasoline instead of several. Women as well as men can make these savings.

The amount of gasoline used in Canada for business, social and non-essential activities is amazingly high in proportion to that used by our fighting forces. One look at the figures would convince you that this situation must be reversed.

17 easy ways towards a 50% GASOLINE SAVING

(Approved by Automobile Experts)

Reduce driving speed from 60 to 40 on the open road.
Avoid jack-rabbit starts.
Avoid useless or non-essential driving.
Turn motor off when not in use, do not leave idling.
Don't race your engine; let it warm up slowly.
Don't strain your engine; change gears.
Keep carburetor cleaned and properly adjusted.
Tune up motor, timing, etc.
Keep spark plugs and valves clean.
Check cooling system; overheating wastes gasoline.
Maintain tires at right pressure.
Lubricate efficiently; worn engines waste gasoline.
Drive in groups to and from work, using cars alternate days.
For golf, picnics and other outings, use one car instead of four.
Take those short shopping trips ON FOOT and carry parcels home.
Walk to and from the movies.
Boat owners, too, can help by reducing speed.

Your regular service station man will gladly explain these and other ways of saving gasoline. Consult him.

GO 50 50 WITH OUR FIGHTING FORCES

Canada does not ask or request you to put your car up. She merely asks for your help . . . asks that you walk sometimes when the distance isn't too great . . . that you take a shorter drive on Sunday afternoon . . . that you look after your car and keep it in good condition . . . that you say to your neighbour: "Let's use my car today, Jim; we'll use yours tomorrow".

Every day, in greater and greater quantity, we must release gasoline and oil by the thousands of gallons to our throbbing munitions plants . . . to our tanks and armoured cars . . . to our fighting planes and bombers . . . to our corvettes and merchant ships that ply the vital sea-lanes . . . so that the day of victory may sooner be at hand.

Will YOU help?

It is also vitally important that you reduce the use of domestic and commercial fuel oil.

The Man I Want

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

BARRY seized a helmet from the wall of the office, and pulled it on his head. He strode toward the door, pausing just long enough to grab up a pair of heavy gloves.

Henley followed, protesting. At the head of the mine, they met Jeita.

She rushed to Barry, and seized him by the arm.

"Barry, what are you doing up? The doctor said—"

"Bother the doctor." Barry shook off her hand, impatiently. "Jack, get that drill ready and lower it down the shaft."

"It's ready, Boss. But I still say it's suicide to go down there."

"There's a chance to save the men if I break through to where they are so they can get air, isn't there?" Barry demanded.

"Yes, but—"

"Then I'm going. Have that drill lowered. Is there anyone here game enough to go with me?" he called, turning around toward the crowd.

"I—I'll go." Kay stepped forward. Barry pushed her aside, roughly.

"No women. I need a man—strong man."

"If you're going, I'm going with you, but I still say it's suicide," Henley said. "Go ahead."

"Good boy. Follow me."

The drill already had been lowered to the bottom of the shaft. The heavy rope was held firmly by one of the men.

Couple more of you fellows grab that line. I may be a little wobbly on my pins climbing down that ladder," Barry ordered.

DISAPPEARS

He started down, slowly. A sigh went up as his helmet disappeared from sight. Henley immediately followed.

"When I jerk the line twice, turn on the power," he ordered. "Three jerks means to shut it off. Understand?"

"Sure, Boss," several of the workmen chorused. "Good luck."

"We'll need it," Henley muttered, as he too disappeared down the mouth of the shaft. Below him he could hear Barry slowly crawling down the ladder. There was a sudden curse, the thud of a falling body. Henley raced down the ladder.

"All right, Chief!" he demanded, as he reached the bottom and turned on his flashlight.

Barry was struggling to his feet. There was a grim smile on his face, but also a look of dogged determination.

"Lost my hold and fell," he explained. "Lucky it wasn't far."

Henley hoisted the drill to his shoulder, and with his flash on, followed Barry's wavering footsteps into a drift that angled to the right from the main shaft. They had gone no more than 20 feet when Barry stopped. As Henley raised his light, he saw why. There was an almost solid wall of rock to block their path.

"Yell," Barry commanded. "They wouldn't hear me."

"Hello!" Henley bellowed, at the top of his lungs. "Can you hear us?"

HOLLOW ECHO

His words bounced back hollowly against the walls of the shaft. There was no answering shout.

"See, Chief? There's no answer. They're done for already. It's plain silly to try to save them now. They probably were crushed right at the start. Buried under tons of rock. The shaft probably gave way."

"Give me that drill!" Henley handed it over. Barry, staggering a bit under its weight, braced himself and thrust the point of it into the heap of rock before him, near the top. "Signal them to turn on the power."

Henley jerked the rope twice, sharply. Almost at once the heavy drill started to hum, and then to throb.

The drill started to bite into the pile. Barry was tracing a big rock that seemed to be lodged as part of a key at the top of the heap. After five minutes, the rock loosened.

Barry jerked the rope three times, and as the power died out, placed the drill on the floor at his feet.

"Come on, Jack. Give me a hand. We've got to get this rock out first."

The two of them, clawing and straining, finally managed to dislocate the rock and pull it back into the tunnel. Barry picked up the drill again, and when it was in place—deeper into the face of the pile, now that the rock was gone—jerked the rope twice. Again it leaped and twisted like something alive.

TOO WEAK

After a time, Barry was too weak to hold the drill and relinquished it to Henley. The foreman, still grumbling that it was suicide, pushed forward while his employer lay on the floor, gasping for breath, gradually regained his strength.

Burrowing like some gigantic wild animal, Barry again took his turn with the drill. The shaft back of them was nearly blocked with the rocks and debris they had dug out. There was a small tunnel, nearly eight feet long through the blockade now.

Henley took another turn while Barry lay down and rested, and then Flynn relieved him again. Sweat poured into his eyes and blinded him, but still he drove the machine.

With a force that threw him forward and banged his head against the drill, it suddenly pierced the last thickness of the wall.

"Jack! Jack! We're through!"

Frantically he tore at the sides of the tunnel with his hands, flinging rock and rubble back of him.

It was Barry, reaching back for Henley's torch, and flaming it into the blackness beyond the hole they had dug, who found Gilbert and his companion, Perkins, stretched out on the floor.

SUPERHUMAN

By superhuman efforts, Barry and Henley got them up and into the tunnel, one at a time, Stan first, Henley ahead, pulled Stan, Barry behind, pushed against his feet. They got him to the main shaft, and went back for Perkins.

Henley it was who climbed the ladder, into the open, and called for volunteers to guide the rescued men's bodies up the shaft. Barry insisted on remaining at the bottom, until both had been taken to the surface, and then he collapsed. Henley had to make another trip down, fasten a rope under his arms, and keep him clear of the sides as willing hands drew him up.

There is a common belief among many people that acidity of the stomach and the condition known as acidosis are the same. This is however, entirely erroneous. The two conditions might exist together, but the physiological effect of the one bears no relation to the other. Excessive stomach acidity gives rise to certain symptoms such as flatulence or gas, stomach and intestinal pains, the eructation of sour, watery matter in the mouth, and allied symptoms. Relief from stomach acidity is often readily obtained by the use of an alkaline powder such as magnesia or bicarbonate of soda. This is of course only temporary relief, and in such cases does not effect a cure, because the cause is not being treated, namely the excessive pouring out of hydrochloric acid by the stomach acid cells. Acidosis, on the other hand refers to a lessening of the alkalinity of the body itself. People will often remark that their systems are acid, when they actually mean that there is a lessened alkalinity because it the system was acid, the patient would not be alive to tell the tale. The extent of the alkalinity may be determined by a blood test which will disclose just how much the acid-alkaline balance of the body has been interfered with. The taking of too much food of the acid-building or acid forming type will often reduce the alkalinity of the body, and of course the remedy is to inject larger quantities of the alkaline forming foods to correct the condition. In order to maintain life it is necessaryy to take a certain proportion of the acid-forming foods, such as meat, fish and fowl, as these foods are tissue builders. If the proteins are not taken, the patient will become enervated, and will not have a good resistance against disease. Vegetarians who do not take enough of the vegetable proteins such as soy bean and its various preparations, will likewise suffer. There has been much discussion regarding this acid-alkaline balance, and much confusion has resulted from an imperfect understanding of the subject. The green leafy vegetables and the fresh fruits are alkaline forming, and this always brings up the age old, time worn question about the citrous fruits being acid, therefore they must be acid forming. This is of course entirely incorrect, and while these fruits are acid in reaction, they are strongly alkalinized in the intestinal tract. I suggest that my readers send for Dr. Frank McCoy's interesting articles on the subject, entitled "Acid-Alkaline Balance" and "Do Acid Fruits Cause Acidosis." Just address your request to the McCoy Health Service, enclosing a large self addressed envelope and six cents in stamps and your articles will be promptly mailed.

McKenney On Bridge

By WM. E. McKENNEY, America's Card Authority

The national women's pair championship, which will be contested at the forthcoming summer session of the national tournament at Asbury Park, N.J., is expected to draw a larger field than ever before. When this event was inaugurated some gloomy prophets predicted it would not survive.

At first there seemed to be a prejudice among women players against pairing with other women as partners, but that is past. The number of first-class women players has increased greatly. The competition for this title is now as keen as that for other honors.

Today's hand is a curiosity from the women's championship last year. One East-West pair who bid and made just six diamonds complained bitterly because the score turned out to be a bottom — and who can blame them! The bid was six at all the tables. Those who played no trump scored at least 990.

It happened that all but one of the pairs who played six diamonds got an opening lead other than the ace of hearts. Declarer then made a grand slam, 940 points, by discarding West's three hearts on East's top spades.

The one pair was unlucky in the opening lead of the heart ace. Hence their score of 920, which they expected would not be below average, was actually bottom.

Debunker

It is all wrong to suppose that clipping the hair off a dog will make him more comfortable in hot weather, says dog expert James R. Kinney, in his book, "How To Raise a Dog" (Simon and Shuster, New York). The dog may be cooler, but nature has already caused him to shed his excess hair and has planned that he should be protected by the remaining hair, as insects can make the dog miserable when without his hair. Then, too, the prickly cut ends of the hair may cause skin irritation to the dog. Nature's own haircut is sufficient.

Responsibility Must Be Taken Irvine States

"We must make ourselves and our people not only fit to accept the full responsibility of self-government in all matters economic, political, social, and cultural, but we must develop the honesty and courage to accept responsibility for the things done or not done by the government which our votes elected," it was stated by William Irvine, Alberta C.C.F. organizer, in his annual report at the C.C.F. convention here Tuesday afternoon.

He stated that there were many grumblings against things done by the present Canadian government, such as in managing and financing the war effort, but none of the people who voted this government into power, by secret ballot, were prepared to say that they accepted the blame and herewith demanded a change of policy.

"The very urgency of war itself, as well as the responsibility of building the peace which our anticipated victory will bring, become imperative commands to us to organize and educate our people to discharge these higher obligations of democratic citizenship," Mr. Irvine said.

NEW POLICIES

"Our appeal," he said, "has been to organize our strength so as to influence governments to adopt new economic policies in keeping with the magnitude and dangers of the task in which we are engaged."

He urged that delegates to the convention return to their homes and organize C.C.F. clubs which would become local units. He felt that there should be at least 20 such locals in each constituency in the province. These units should carry on educational and organization in the years between elections if the whole organization was to have strength when an election came about.

One of the greatest difficulties to overcome, he said, is the "inertia of those who take the attitude when an election is over that it will be four or five years before it will be necessary for them to take any further interest in political activities.

"We must strive in season and out of season to break down this false notion of irresponsibility in democratic citizenship," he added.

Trappers Believed Drowned In North: Clothing Is Found

FORT SMITH, July 16—Abandoned and overturned canoe discovered on the beach of Mission island in the Slave river Tuesday has led to the belief that two young native trappers, Jean King Beaulieu and Pat Laviolette, have been lost in the river. The men's caps were found floating downstream Monday when anxiety for their safety was felt.

The trappers left Fort Smith Saturday and a high wind came up shortly after their departure. R.C.M.P. and men from the Chipewyan Indian tribe under Chief Abraham took up the search immediately. Some of the trappers' equipment has been found.

Both men have relatives in the Fort Smith district.

Black And White Stores Are Sold

Sale of the Black and White chain of six stores operating in Edmonton has been made to Winkrobe Brothers, Glendon Alta., it was learned Wednesday. The sale was effected at the week-end. The purchase price was not disclosed. Plans are now underway for the reorganization and restocking of the stores, and later further extension of the company's holdings in Edmonton is contemplated.

College Repairs

Repair work on Alberta College, damaged by fire Monday evening, commenced Wednesday, and will last about two weeks, officials of the institution said. Repairs are being made to the second and third storeys, the roof and part of the basement.

Car Is Stolen

F. G. Sutherland, 9923 106 street, told police Wednesday that his car, a 1937 Ford coach, bearing license number 81-366, was stolen from the corner of 109 avenue and 104 street some time between 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. Tuesday. The key had been left in the car, a light blue model, Mr. Sutherland said.

Fine Collection Of School Work Shown At Fair

Students of city schools are showing an interesting collection of their work in the special school work exhibit at the Edmonton Exhibition. The display is being shown in the second building north of the Manufacturers' Building.

Outstanding talent among students being general high instruction in the schools is evidenced by several masterful constructions of desks, tables of all sorts, and some metal work. A gum-wood desk made by a 17-year-old student in Grade 9, is well finished, and cleverly designed, as are the many types of tables. A first year student at the Technical shop was awarded the Cora Hind prize for a round table.

WAR WORK COURSE

Aircraft students taking the Industrial Training for War Work course at the Technical School during recent months have shown a varied collection of their work. Cedar chests, garden chairs, tables, lamps, and boxes of many types, mainly designed by the students, show excellent work.

In the art groups are drawings and paintings of students in elementary, intermediate and high schools. Stage and costume designs, posters and motif work, land and sea scapes, and other art work comprises the interesting display.

Also being shown are the many rugs made by the students in the special classes.

Stephens, head of the All People's Mission camp at Wabamun Beach, Miss Marguerite Stephens, was responsible for recovering the body of Paul Sagan, 17, farm youth who drowned Saturday afternoon, R.C.M.P. said Wednesday. Miss Stephens rowed to the scene of the mishap, dived into the water and brought the body to the surface.

High winners in the 7th annual dog show sponsored by the Hospital Aid Society in Calgary, which closed Saturday, were two Edmonton dogs. Robin Hill Night Flight, a Sealyham, owned by Mary D. Gardner, won praise from the judges as the winner in the Terrier class. Sweetheart of Sealyhurst, owned by Mr. and Mrs. John S. Grant, won the best sporting group trophy.

Advisory committees on retail and wholesale divisions of industry met at the Legislative buildings Wednesday under the auspices of the department of trade and industry. Details were discussed regarding advisability of restoring the five per cent. above the lowest wholesale catalogue price and the handling of wholesale sales slips or invoices to show the purchaser's retail license number. Further discussions are expected to take place.

George Berube of South Edmonton was sentenced to 10 days' imprisonment when he appeared before Magistrate Harold Hawe, K.C., in city police court Tuesday on a charge of driving a motor vehicle in charge of a car. Berube, police said, was the driver of the car which struck another car operated by John Martin on the Calgary trail June 7. Three persons, including Berube, were injured.

Orders for the demolition of two buildings condemned as being untenable, have been issued by the city building inspector's department, and demolition is already in progress. The apartment building at 96 street and Jasper avenue, known as the Spring Creek rooms, is being torn down as not fit for human habitation. Penchuk's garage at 102A avenue and 96 street, where two fires have occurred recently, also is being demolished.

War Policy Of C.C.F. Reviewed By David Lewis

The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation policy on Canada and the war was explained by David Lewis, national secretary of the C.C.F., at a public meeting at the I.O.O.F. hall on 103 street Tuesday night. The address was given in conjunction with the annual convention of the general membership of the C.C.F. in Alberta.

"Nothing in recent years has been quite so misrepresented and misunderstood as the C.C.F. war policy", said the youthful-looking national secretary. "The C.C.F. is definitely behind the war against Hitler, in the best and only way, the way of labor-farmer-socialist-progressive groups, the way in which victory can be won quickly for the common people, the way of mobilization of manpower and material on an equal basis."

Mr. Lewis said Canada's war effort was "inadequate, undemocratic, unjust and dangerous for both the present and the post-war period." He mentioned examples from war administration, labor and farm situations, to show the reason for his criticism.

He said Canada's war administration was "too little, too late, and then they get the wrong people to do it".

Tracing the development of the C.C.F. war policy, Mr. Lewis told of the situation in the fall of 1939, when war broke out. "We had pledged to never agree to support another war which had as its aim exploitation for the profit-system", Mr. Lewis then told how the present policy was adopted "not forgetting the follies of the last war".

GOVERNMENT CRITICIZED

Attacking the government's handling of the labor situation Mr. Lewis told of incidents arising from labor conciliation boards set up by the federal government. He criticized the government for its action in making decisions without recognition of and consultation with trade unions and labor.

The crop reduction plan of the dominion government also came "under fire" in the speaker's address. He said "the crops are being reduced, and the farmer's income likewise reduced correspondingly".

Concluding, Mr. Lewis said that "the policies which will win the war, are inseparable from the policies which will follow the war." He urged that such policies be planned with that in view . . . "that they are inseparable".

C. Ronning, of Camrose, introduced Mr. Lewis. H. D. Ainlay was chairman of the meeting. A program of songs and entertainment was also presented. Following Mr. Lewis' address a buffet lunch and dance were enjoyed.

C.C.F. Urges Conscription Wealth In War

be assured that our army will be furnished with weapons of defence equal at least to that of the enemy.

Accordingly we urge that no referendum be submitted on conscription of men until the government has first conscripted, under powers already granted by parliament, all the industries and resources necessary to carry on a total war; and that if the government does submit a referendum on conscription of men without first having conscripted industry and resources, an opportunity also be given the Canadian people to vote on the question of conscription of the industries and resources."

Report of the provincial board, adopted at the convention, dealt with the war effort, civil liberties, agriculture, labor policy, unification of the C.C.F. in Alberta and general organization.

FINANCING OF WAR

In its report on the war effort, the board said the convention advocated that profits be taken out of war by mobilization of all munitions and war industries under the National Resources Mobilization Act. Organized workers and farmers should be given adequate representation on all war boards. The war should be financed by using all wealth above what is needed for a reasonable and equitable standard of living and that war loans should be interest-free and levied on a graduated scale according to ability to subscribe.

In the report on civil liberties it was urged that the government review all the cases of organizations and individuals who have been declared illegal and who have suffered conscription or internment, provided they have no direct or indirect connection with Nazi activities.

It was stated that this was especially necessary since Soviet Russia has become fully of the C.C.F. in the war against Nazism and Fascism.

PLANNED AGRICULTURE

Demand was registered that Canadian agriculture be planned as part of the national business in order (a) to produce the necessary foodstuffs, (b) to guarantee a fair standard of living for the producers. It was also demanded that parity prices be established for all farm products and revised each year; that farm products be marketed through marketing boards on which produc-

Soldiers Will March To Fair To Enjoy Sights

Led by a military band, 500 recruits in Canada's active army will march to the Edmonton Exhibition Association's grounds Thursday at 2:15 p.m. to enjoy the festivities at the city's annual carnival.

They are some of the men who enlisted in the active service forces during the recent recruiting drive, and all are looking forward to their holiday away from drill at the summer fair.

The men will march in column of route from the Prince of Wales armory to the grounds under the command of their company officers and will be dismissed from parade on arrival in the grounds. At the conclusion of their visit they will "fall in" for the march back to barracks.

Former School Property Will Be Disposed Of

Agreement was reached at the meeting of the school board Tuesday evening to advertise for sale the property on which is situated the old Glenora school buildings.

The time limit for tenders will be August 15, it was stated. W. G. McConachie presided at the meeting in the absence of the chairman, A. E. Ottewell.

The schools are situated on Lots 1 to 3, Block 3, Plan 1. Sale of the small portable building at the rear of the school, to C. Case, was approved at the meeting. Sale price of the building was $50, the furnace to be retained by the board.

TEACHERS RESIGN

Resignations from the teaching staff of I. Goresky, Elaine Austin, Ruth Burnell and Agnes Bradley were approved, and leaves of absence granted to J. Cecil Hewson and W. F. Edwards to continue their studies at universities.

Resolution submitted by the executive committee of the Taxpayers' Protective association that efforts be made to eliminate capital expenditures on city projects for the duration, was received and filed.

Report on attendances in schools, submitted by Superintendent Ross S. Sheppard showed a decrease in enrollment "ver last year's figures, being June 30, 1941, 7,462. Total attendance for June of this year was 14,335 against 14,817 during the same month of last year. The decrease was made up of 208 in high, 124 in intermediate and 150 in elementary schools.

Medical supervisor of schools, Dr. G. E. Swallow made the recommendation that Dr. McCormick, Dr. Orobko and Dr. Kendal be attached to the staff for the duration, to replace the dentists who are at present on active service. Drs. Orobko and Kendal will do part-time work.

Subject to exceptions for special meetings at the call of the chair, the board will not meet again until August 6.

"Conchies" Sent To Jasper Camps: Some Must Train

Twenty-seven conscientious objectors were ordered by the Alberta War Services Board to report immediately to work camps at Jasper Park, while four were ordered to report immediately to the Camrose training camp for their fourth month military training period.

The men were of the 22-24-year-old classes now being called for training, and all appeared to support applications for exemption on religious grounds. They were members of the Mennonite sect and former members of the International Bible Institute.

In all, 62 persons made application for exemption from military service, 29 of whom were told they would have to attend camp during the periods of training in September, October and November. Two applicants were granted postponements of their military service.

School Children Contribute Large Amount To Fund

Setting a high standard in their efforts to augment the Canadian war funds, the school children of Edmonton contributed $13,628.25 to the Dominion funds, through purchase of war savings stamps, during the year, Superintendent Ross S. Sheppard stated Tuesday night, at the last meeting of the school board for the season.

Students attending city schools during June totalled 14,335, showing that close to one dollar per student was contributed from city schools.

eers had representation and that the Winnipeg Grain Exchange be abolished.

Demand was made for repeal of order-in-council 7440 "which seeks to freeze wages even in industries where they are already depressed." Improvement of conciliation machinery to provide for the settling of labor disputes and legislation to guarantee and enforce the right to organize and bargain collectively also were demanded.

The convention unanimously authorized the Alberta Council of the C.C.F. to send a delegate to meet with the Canadian Labor party, Alberta section, and the general membership section of the C.C.F. for the purpose of considering the formation of a single C.C.F. party in the province.

The convention resolved that all its members and units carry on education and organization, to "Work with determination to attain power in order to make our policies effective."
